Methodist Church Group Again Sponsors Christmas Cheer Plan for Orphans

BY OBSERVER

Look towards the close of this article. See the long list of names? Names of orphans in the Methodist Orphanage at Lake Bluff. Now notice especially the name of the first orphan. Wouldn't you like to entertain him in your home on Christmas day? Treat him just as you would a child of your own?

For many years it has been the very good custom in Wilmette and Winnetka for householders to take one or more of these children into the home for a Christmas day and dinner. The before-mentioned list at the close of this article gives the names of all the available orphans, and after each name is the child's age. If you wish to give them and yourself this great pleasure telephone Mrs. Roy Haskin, Wilmette 155, and tell her which one or ones you will take. Mrs. Haskins will tell you just how you can get them.

This work, one of the truest exhibitions of the real Christmas spirit, is carried on under the auspices of the Philathea class of the Wilmette Parish Methodist church. Remember Mrs. Haskin's number, Wilmette 155

GIRLS FOIL BANDITS

Thieves Get Haul of Jewelry But Are Frightened Away by Quick Wit of Victim in Sounding Auto Horn

Three youthful bandits were foiled in their attempt to kidnap Miss Emily Foresman, 515 Essex road, and her two companions, by the quick wit of Miss Foresman, who sounded the horn of her motor car when the men ordered the girls into the car after they had robbed them of their jewelry and valuables. The other two girls were Miss Dorothy Foresman and Miss Katherine Bosch, of Houghton, Mich., a guest.

The girls were returning from a visit with friends. The bandits followed them in a motor car from Evanston, and when the girls stopped in front of the Foresman home they were made to get out of their car and hand over their valuables at the points of three revolvers. They were then ordered to get back into the car. It was at this juncture that Miss Emily Foresman sounded the horn on her car, at which the bandits jumped into it and sped away, leaving their own car, which was later found to have been stolen.

Kenilworth and Wilmette police were notified but no trace of the bandits was discovered. It was thought that they drove west over Lake avenue, Wilmette.

The girls placed their combined loss at about $500, in addition to the motor car. Miss Foresman is a daughter of Hugh A. Foresman, vice president of a Chicago publishing house. The robbery occurred shortly before 11 o'clock in the evening.
