DINE ON WILD DUCK; SWAP HUNTING YARNS

Isaac Waltonites of Winnetka Enjoy Sumptuous Repast at Community House

Thirty-eight townsmen, known to the community at large as successful business and professional men, but to one another as different types of huntsmen and fishermen, gathered about the festive board Thursday evening of last week to eat a sumptuous repast of wild duck and, incidentally, swap yarns regarding their prowess as outdoorsmen. The occasion was a meeting of the Winnetka chapter, Isaac Walton League of America. The scene of the dinner was the assembly hall of Community House. The ducks, served by a Winnetka cateress, had been winged by an unerring huntsman, familiar to the community as A. Montague Ferry. President J. O. Ely of the chapter, pre- sided at the dinner, but early handed the gavel to Toastmaster Ferry.

Talks covering a wide range of out- door activity and singing provided the delightful program. These talks were given, for the most part, by members who have achieved honorary titles in the chapter.

Hear Thrilling Tales

Sherman M. Gobel, "Adventurer," described a sea voyage in a most graphic manner; Percival Hunter, "Ancient Mariner," told of an experi- ence on Green Bay, giving a marvelous depiction of a storm; "Chief" J. W. F. Davies of Community House, "Chief Ranger," spoke of the wonderful Sierra Nevada trails; Norman K. Anderson, "Compleat Angler," favored with some thrilling incidents from his experi- ences; Arthur H. Woodward, "Meat Hunter" recounted his experiences in breaking trails, building roads and sur- veying in the north woods; Alfred E. McCordic, "Feather Chaser," told of duck hunting in the West and South; Merrit Starr read a clever and humor- ous narative.

Singing of popular and old-time songs was interspersed with the story- telling, with Arthur Dean as director of that feature of the program.

Come in Hunting Garb

Adding color to the setting was the happy sight of most of the diners ap- pearing in hunters' garb, with flannel shirts and hiking boots predominating. Those who participated in the affair were:

- E. J. Allsebrooke, A. S. Anderson, Norman K. Anderson, Harry H. Bar- num, L. L. Buchanan, Master Perry Buchanan, John Buckingham, Andrew P. Canning, J. F. Comee, Theo. J. Coyne, Wm. B. Dale, Dr. I.
