

Legionnaires to Hear Vaudeville Team February 1

At the meeting of the Winnetka Post, No. 10, American Legion which will be held in the Legion room at Community House Monday evening, February 1, at 8 o'clock, there will be entertainment by a professional team well known in vaudeville, Al Lehmas and Slim Greenloh. These men belonged to the same organization during the war and have been appearing together with great success in vaudeville for some years. The arrangements for the entertainment were made through Cope Harvey, the organizer and leader of the Cope Harvey orchestras.

Prior to the entertainment a short business session will be held. The question of the annual entertainment will be considered. There may be some violent repercussions from the famous court-martial trial held at the last meeting in Star-Chamber session amid tense and dramatic scenes. It is understood that a Congressional investigation of some of the charges made at that trial may be demanded. The Post will also vote on the World Court resolution.

Wins Prize in Chicago Architectural Contest

Ralph W. Varney, 535 Cherry street, well known architect, was awarded the second prize in an architectural contest conducted by the Midland club, of Chicago, recently. The decision of the jury was announced last Saturday. The competition was held under the auspices of the Chicago chapter of the American Institute of Architects, and the first prize was won by K. M. Vitzum.

The Current Events club will meet with Mrs. Caleb A. Busick of 1408 Asbury avenue Friday, February 5, at 2:30 o'clock Mrs. William Browne Hale will speak on the "World Court."

Mrs. Earl R. Green of 791 Walden road is in Los Angeles, Cal. She expects to be away another month.

"Law, Mystery and God" Is Subject for Sermon

This Sunday morning the Rev. James Austin Richards, of the Congregational church, will preach on the topic, "Law and Mystery and God," with some reference to the relationship of religion and health.

The music for the service will be an organ and violin prelude, "Prayer," by Wolf-Ferrari; an anthem, "Comes at Times a Stillness," by Woodward; and the offertory anthem, "The Following Love," by J. Sebastian Matthews.

Yes, Happy, I keep a budget of my expenses every year, and wherever I can show a saving by careful buying I spend the difference for a bond. This one represents what I have saved in buying all of my meat at PETERS MARKET during the past year.

That certainly is a wonderful idea, Careful, but I never trade at one place long enough to figure out the saving. I think I'll give PETERS MARKET all my meat business for the next year and keep track of it and see how it works out.
