Expert to Give Course in Child Welfare Study

Prof. Thomas D. Eliot of the sociological department of Northwestern university has been reappointed lecturer in child welfare at the National Kindergarten and Elementary college, which will open its new buildings in Evanston, February 10. The classes will be Monday and Wednesday from 4 to 5 o'clock throughout the semester and will give the kindergarteners opportunities to study the social problems of children and the agencies which seek to remedy delinquency, neglect, and dependency.

Visiting Music Leader Calls at Country Day

Thomas W. Surette, of Concord, Mass., visiting director of music of the North Shore Country Day school and consultant in music for numerous institutions in the East, has been at the school during the present week. In addition to assisting in the direction of the musical programs, he has talked to the pupils on the recent productions of Hamlet in modern costume, and on Tuesday addressed the members of the faculty upon the subject of "Musical appreciation and its general relation to the curriculum."

Sunday Club News

The fire crackled merrily in the big fire-place in the Camp Fire room last Sunday evening, when 25 Winnetka young people gathered around it for a supper of sandwiches and cocoa.

Did you know that the State Legislature has for three years, been debating the eight-hour-day law for women? Did you know that for twenty years the state of Massachusetts has had a law limiting women's working hours, and that many other states passed similar laws years ago? And do you know about the scientific tests measuring the effects of fatigue on a worker's health, and on his output, after eight hours of work? These are some of the things you would have learned from Miss Agnes Mestor if you had listened to the crackling of the fire with those other twenty-five young people. Miss Mestor is a representative of the Woman's Trade Union league and has spent a good deal of time in Springfield working for the passage of the eight-hour bill. She knows industrial life, for she has, herself, been in industrial work in the glove making industry.

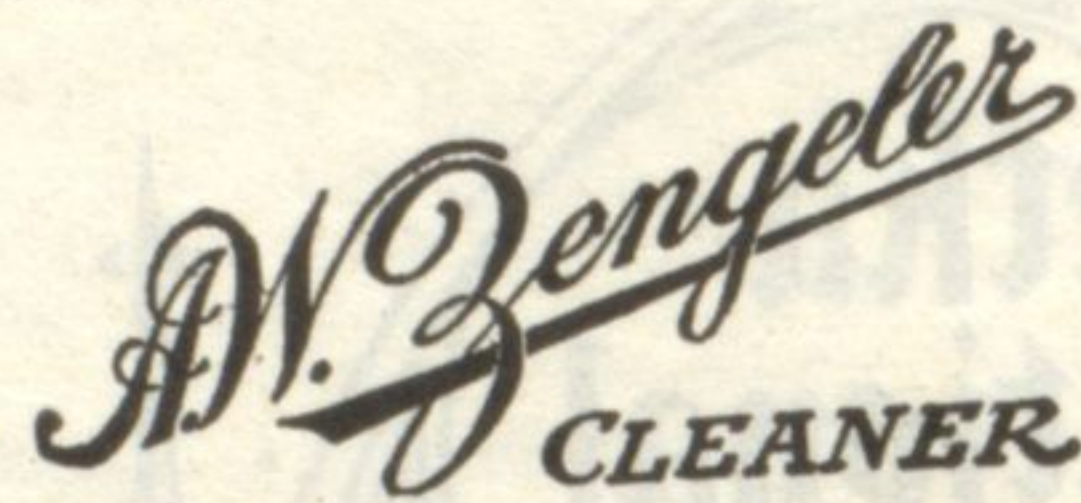

How much do you know about the things which pass through an industrial worker's mind during long hours of purely manual labor? Why not hear Miss Lillian Herstein's talk on "Workers' Education" next week? Miss Herstein is an instructor at Crane Junior college. She has been a teacher in the Bryn Mawr Summer school for industrial girls.

Come in time for the six-thirty supper and social hour.

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Gonsalves have moved from their old home at 635 Rosewood avenue, to their new home at 919 Hill road. They are leaving Monday for a visit of a month or six weeks in California.
