

FAMOUS SURGEON WILL ADDRESS LEGIONNAIRES

Rehabilitation Work Among Wounded Soldiers to Be Subject at Monday Meeting

At the meeting of Winnetka Post No. 10, American Legion, Monday, February 15, in Community House, at 8:15 o'clock, Dr. Harry E. Mock of Chicago will give a talk, illustrated by stereopticon slides, entitled "Human Salvages." This talk was first scheduled for January 4, 1926.

Dr. Mock came to the meeting on that date ready to give his address, but on request of the members of the Post who felt that on a later date a greater attendance could be obtained, he generously agreed to come on a later date which is now set for next Monday. Those who have heard his talk state it is a truly remarkable story of what is being done to remake and put back in the game again, men disabled both in war and in industry. The stereopticon slides furnish amazing proof of the stories of reconstruction which to a layman are at first almost past belief.

Dr. Mock is a leading surgeon of Chicago and is an authority on work with men injured in industry. During the recent war he served in the medical corps of the United States army, being discharged as a lieutenant colonel. In October, 1917, he was sent to the surgeon general's office at Washington, D. C., to the division of surgical reconstruction, and thereafter most of his work was concerned with the rehabilitation of disabled soldiers. After the war, for nine months he was editor of the magazine, "Carry On," which was published in the interests of disabled soldiers. In 1919 he was a delegate representing the United States army at the Inter-allied Medical Conference for disabled soldiers at Rome.

Open to Public

Dr. Mock's lecture will begin at 9 o'clock. The members of the Post are urged to bring any of their friends, whether ex-service men or not, who would like to hear this lecture and the lecture will be open to the public.

At 8:30 o'clock the North Shore Talking Machine company of Winnetka will give a concert on the Orthophonic Victrola with Miss Polly Arndt, pianist, as accompanist.

The concert and the lecture will be preceded, beginning at 8 o'clock, by a short business session.

Offer Special Course of Lent Lectures at Center

(Contributed)

Lent begins on Ash Wednesday, February 17, and those who, like the little girl in one of our Protestant families "want a special day like Margaret's when they can eat something different," may satisfy that hunger for spiritual uplift by attending a course of six lectures on the "Second Isaiah" to be given every Tuesday morning by the Rev. Austin Richards at Community House, beginning February 23.

Those who have been attendants at other courses given by Mr. Richards need only to be notified of the time and place of this one. But for newcomers this is offered as a rare opportunity—one hour a week for five Tuesdays from 10 to 11 A. M.—to feed both their minds and their souls. One cannot find a better way to spend some of the hours of Lent. The subject for February 23 is, "The Exile and the Voice of Comfort," Isaiah 40:1-11.

Mrs. A. P. Thoms of 863 Lincoln avenue left on February 8 for a trip to Florida. She expects to be away about a month.
