Watch Out for Mac Draft Disguised as Soft Coal

If you see something that looks like a lump of coal, coming down the street, wearing a tin helmet and blowing a bugle, it is MacDraft, the genial chimney sweep, who will be in the village next week. Mac gets up quite a draft through the old bugle and is quite as efficient at getting a draft through soot-clogged chimneys. He has paraded most of these United States for the past ten years blowing sweet notes out of his bugle and soot out of chimneys and he expects to make Winnetka fire insurance rates drop. Anyone who needs his services may reach him through the fire department, it is announced.

The dinner is scheduled for 6:30 o'clock and promises to be one of the most interesting political gatherings of the strong election season.

From across the Atlantic comes the news that Mr. and Mrs. William Colvin, Jr., and their children are most comfortably located in a delightful English cottage on Eldon road, Kensington, London. They write that they are charmed with the atmosphere of English life there. The Colvins formerly lived on Walden road, but Mr. Colvin's business interests have taken him to England for a year or so.

Rabbi Wessel Addresses Rotarians on "Lincoln"

Rabbi Harvey E. Wessel of the North Shore Congregation addressed the Winnetka Rotary club last Friday on the life of Abraham Lincoln. In contrast to the customary eulogy of the story book Lincoln, Rabbi Wessel discussed the various phases of the Emancipator's character, picturing him as he appeals to the child mind, the religionist and the psycho-analyst. Rabbi Wessel was introduced by Dr. J. W. F. Davies, who is a member of the Winnetka club.
