PUBLIC FORUM

Why the tax for a band?

It seems to me that this is the sort of activity that should be supported by voluntary private subscription rather than by general public involuntary taxation.

We are proud of the fact that the Village hall has been constructed without recourse to bonding which, of course, would have been taxation. Our municipal water and light plants support themselves. No taxation required there. Our Fourth of July celebration is paid for by village cooperation, to be sure, but by voluntary subscription and not by taxation.

I think most Winnetka residents will agree with me that their real estate taxes are high enough now, but if they were to be increased, there are many things of greater general necessity and convenience than bands, for which the village needs more money and which must be taken care of by taxation.

The Chicago band is a private organization and does not depend for its support on public taxation.

Granting that a village band is needed and is desirable, I believe there will be many who will be glad to chip in to defray its expenses, but let's not be taxed for it.

I shall vote "No" on the Band Referendum next Tuesday, and hope that if there are others who have not appreciated the situation, they will make the effort to go to the polls and vote "No", too.

Yours very truly,
"Non musician"

Mrs. Albert Bailey Potter of Hubbard Woods, and her infant daughter, Brooks Potter, are going to Minneapolis today to spend Easter with Mrs. Potter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Sweet. They will be away a fortnight.

Mrs. Coram T. Davis and her daughter, Dorothy, 132 Bertling lane, have returned from a two months' outing in Florida. Although they visited several of the resorts of that state, they spent most of their time at Miami Beach.

Mrs. Maurice Lieber, parliamentarian, opened a new course in civics and parliamentary procedure Friday at the Chicago Public Library. The course is given for ten weeks especially for librarians of all the branches of the Chicago Library.
