Donates $10,000 Toward Religious Journalism Fund

Dr. J. W. F. Davies was in Boston, Mass., last week attending a meeting of the directors of Congregational Education and Publication societies, during the sessions of which the Rev. Frank N. Greeley, of Miami, Fla., offered a donation of $10,000 towards a $200,000 endowment fund for The Congregationalist.

The board of the Congregational Publishing society has accepted Mr. Greeley's proposal according to an editorial in the current issue of The Congregationalist and adds:

"The men who have most closely studied the whole problem of religious journalism under present conditions, see in adequate endowment the only hope of that permanent, assured support that will make the religious weekly as much a basal and essential part of Christian enterprise as the maintenance of Christian schools and colleges."

Children Register Now for Lake Hamlin Camps

The new leaflets of information concerning the summer camp for boys and girls at Hamlin Lake, Mich., conducted by Dr. J. W. F. Davies and sponsored by Community House, are ready for distribution and, already, a number of boys and girls have registered for the coming season. These camps are eighteen days each. The boy's camp extends from June 22 to July 9; the girls' camp from July 13 to July 30. The camps are limited in number to thirty-two each, and youngsters have learned the value of registering early as there is usually a waiting list.

To Tell of Work of Visiting Nurses at Woman's Society

The Wednesday program of the Woman's Society of the Congregational church promises to interest everyone. After the assembly at 10 o'clock, and work assigned, Mrs. Frederick Dickinson will read a group of "Poems of Inspiration." At noon, Mrs. Frank A. Windes will have the devotional service.

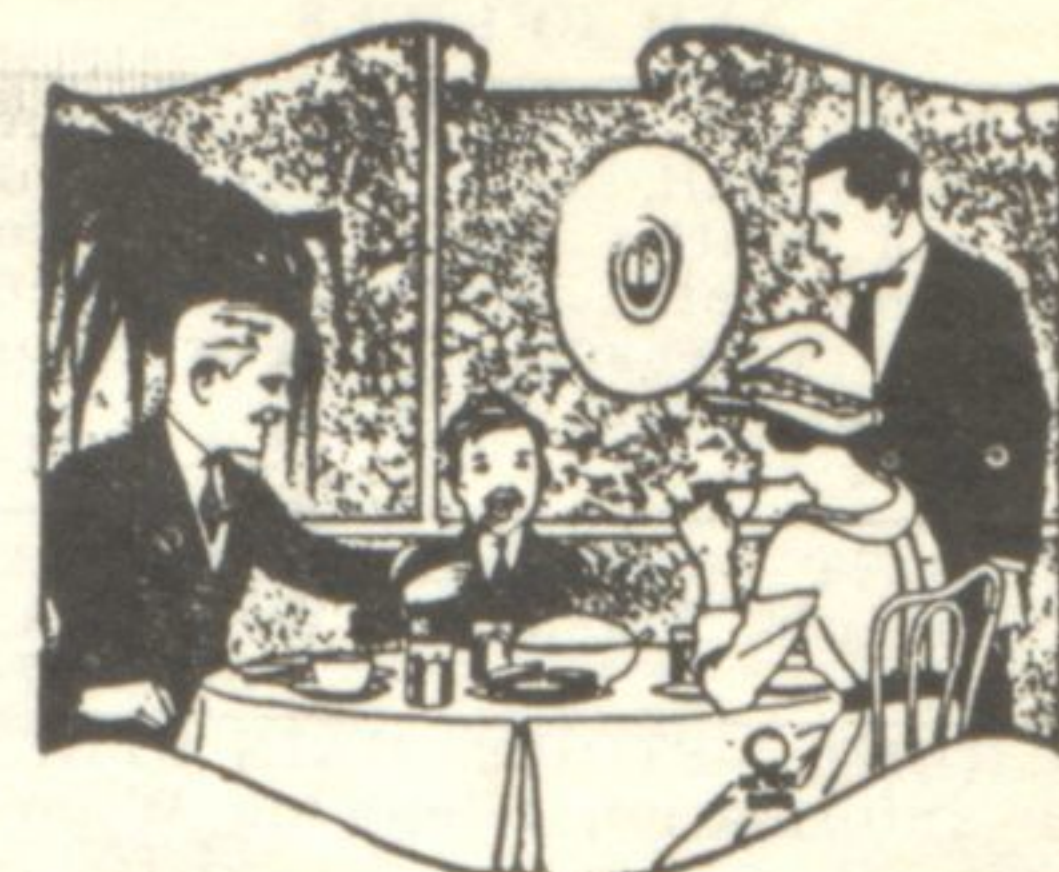

At 1 o'clock, Miss Edna Foley, president of the Visiting Nurses' Association, of Chicago, will tell of the work of that group, and some of the worthwhile services it has given to the neediest ones in the city of Chicago.

This subject should be especially appealing to people in Winnetka for Mrs. Horace Tenney was for many years identified with the work and plans of the visiting nurses and through her interest and enthusiasm, secured Miss Mary Garretson our own first visiting nurse.

Miss Foley is an able speaker, and will give a program of vital interest to all. Everyone is welcome to the meeting. "Tell your new neighbor and bring them into touch with these big community interests," is the message from the Woman's society.
