

PROFITS IN SILVER FOXES

Six pups of a litter of ten produced and raised by a pair of Lea Foxes.

Conservative Estimate of Profits a Purchaser May Reasonably Expect.

We print below a table that is very, very conservative. We base the increase on only two pups to the litter (the ordinary litters are 4, 5 and 6), assuming that the EXTRA FOXES will PAY UPKEEP:

YEAR	FOXES	INCREASE	TOTAL FOXES
First	2	2	4
Second	4	4	8
Third	8	8	16
Fourth	16	16	32
Fifth	32	32	64

As table shows, there should be 64 Silver Foxes after five breeding seasons. It is a foregone conclusion that 64 Silver Foxes can be readily sold for the insignificant sum of $100 per Fox or $6,400. Deducting the original investment of $1,750, there would remain a net profit of $4,650, or 260 per cent, an average of 52 per cent per annum. The final analysis shows that by an investment in Silver, $1,750 would produce, based on the figures above, an annual profit equivalent to 6 per cent on $15,500.

The U. S. Government Says:

"As a fur bearing animal propagated in captivity the Silver Fox has no rival, and both live foxes and their pelts are in demand. Probably no other live stock enterprise pays larger returns for the money invested."
