Child Artist Appears in Second Recital in Chicago. Sunday Evening

Harriet B. Mason, child pianist with a fine future, it is prophesied, a resident of Winnetka, and now residing in Chicago, will appear in her second recital under the direction of Karl Reckzeh, at Lyon and Healy hall, Sunday evening, April 18, at 8 o'clock.

Miss Harriet, who is now 13 years of age, made one of her first public appearances, when, at the age of 9, after a year and a half of study, she was chosen as piano soloist for the Artist-childrens programs at Ravinia Park. A critic said of her at that time, "Harriet has the poise of a veteran, to say nothing of a very mature technique and un-failing good taste."

During the past year, she has been studying intensively, and has made only a few professional appearances, among which have been engagements at German Choral societies, and two recitals at the Sovereign hotel. She has made marked progress in her development, and is now at work on the last two movements of Chopin's Concerto in E Minor, which Brailowsky played in its entirety with the Chicago Symphony orchestra, and which she will render in a recital next season.

The program she will play Sunday follows:

- Haydn .....Fantasie in C. major
- Mozart...Variations from Sonata in A major
- Beethoven ..... Bagatelle
- Scarlatti .... Pastoral and Capriccio
- Mendelssohn .... Scherzo a Capriccio
- Brahms ..... Wiegellied
- Chopin.Nocturne F. minor op. 55 No. 1
- Liszt .....Etude D flat major

Grieg..Concerto in A minor, 1st mov.
