Players to Offer Next Production Here on May 5-6

The usual April program of the Community Players has been postponed to May 5 and 6. Friends and followers of the organization will be well repaid, however, as the delay will give additional time to an excellent cast to prepare for the presentation of Jan Hay's delightful comedy, "Lilly of Bloomsbury."

This play is adapted from the author's novel, Happy Go-Lucky, and was originally produced by A. H. Woods under that title, with O. P. Heggie in the lead. The story centers around a young man of very good family who falls in love with Lilly, whose father is a ne'er-do-well. The lover meets opposition from his family, and while paying a visit to the home of his fiancée becomes enmeshed in many amusing incidents, several of which centers around a most unusual butler.

This program will be presented in Matz Hall, Community House. Players will be admitted on their tickets. There will be the usual small admission fee for the general public.

This play closes the season, and to those who have enjoyed the winter's program the Players say, "Come and laugh with us."

DOUBLE BAPTISM

A double baptism was solemnized at Christ church on Easter evening when little Jane Mansfield Affleck, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Affleck, 695 Lincoln avenue and Thomas Frank Spoehr, 6 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Spoehr, were baptised. Mrs. Spoehr is the daughter of Mrs. Affleck.

Mrs. S. Edwin Earle, 922 Tower road, will return next Tuesday from a four months' trip to California.
