

Great Organists Will Give Joint Recital Tuesday

The great festival "public service" given annually at St. Luke's church, Evanston, under the auspices of the Illinois Chapter, American Guild of Organists, is announced this year for Tuesday, May 18, at 8 o'clock. Arrangements are in the hands of Stanley Martin of St. Mark's, Evanston, dean of the chapter and a member of the faculty of Northwestern university.

A rich and varied program will be given by the three artists chosen from the membership of the Guild to represent them on this occasion. Robert R. Birch of the Church of the Redeemer, Chicago, will play the Finnish composer Jongen's "Prayer," and D'Antalfy's ultra modern "Sportive Fauns." Allen Bogen of the Tenth Church of Christ, Scientist, Chicago, will play the Spanish composer Torres' "Communion" and Vierne's "Finale from First Symphony." Edwin Stanley Seder, F. A. G. O., of the First Congregational church of Oak Park, will play the great Bach chorale "All Men Are Mortal," a manuscript number by Kessler called "Romance," and the Mulet "Toccat—Thou Art a Rock."

The organists will be assisted by St. Luke's vested choir of forty voices in a group of songs including modern and old-time eight-part choruses sung unaccompanied.

The service is free and the public is cordially invited.
