Adair, social committee.

The Skokie Valley chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution will meet with Mrs. Edward L. Scheidenhelm, 704 Lake avenue, Wilmette, May 24. An historical recital of early American music will be given. Mrs. Arthur Byfield will sing and Mrs. Dwight Orcutt will play the piano.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark W. Cresap of Kenilworth, and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Comly of Evanston are spending this week-end as the guests of the L. C. Walkers at their home in Muskegon, Mich.

Mrs. Frank Cherry and Miss Jeanette Cherry, 422 Abbottsford road, left Kenilworth Monday to motor through the East. They will stop in Ithaca, N. Y., to visit friends.

RIDICULOUS ROMANCE

"HONK"

By Doris F. Halman.
Frederick A. Stokes Co.

It is easy to imagine waxing humorous over a motor trip in Europe embarked upon by three ridiculous people, Peter Van Kleeck, professor of economics adored by all the young ladies of his classes, and Riff and Raff, two old maids the only ones of the weaker sex known to be impervious to his charms. This ill-assorted trio finds that by pooling their nest-eggs it will be possible to motor through Europe, a thing they have all been longing to do, thus escaping tourists and the beaten path and travelling in the highways and byways.

So in spite of the laughter and jeering of friends, they start out, buy a little French car, and after Peter has spent a week tramping the streets of Paris getting licenses and permissions and things, embark on their much looked forward to adventure. The story is told by the slightly stilted, very conceited professor, and loses nothing in the telling.

It can easily be imagined what difficulties beset the way. We look at Europe through not only clouds of dust, but clouds of mishaps. For example, "Madrid was in sight when the fan belt broke." We hear a good deal more of the fan belt, little more of Madrid. One day in Spain, they tie handkerchiefs over their mouths to strain the dust and are mistaken for bandits. But worst mishap of all, circumstances foist upon them Phoebe Proctor, the most adoring and impudent of all these young lady students of whom Peter Van Kleeck cannot think without a shudder.

And of course in the end the expected happens, romance creeps upon the heartless professor and bags him for her own. And they part, tragically, with the French car and return to America each having found even more than he or she anticipated.

Library Notes

A recent addition to the Reference Collection of the Library is "English Gardens," by Avray Tipping. No garden lover should miss the opportunity of examining this book, for the beautiful illustrations, which are photographs of gardens belonging to old estates in England, and the descriptive text, offer a rare treat to anyone interested in such things.

The following is a suggestive list of books, which will be of practical use in making a garden and may be borrowed from the library:

Cultivated Evergreens, L. H. Bailey; Color in the Garden, Jekyll; Continuous Bloom in America, Shelton; My Garden in Spring, Bowles; My Garden in Summer, Bowles; The Little Garden, King; The Well-Considered Garden, King; Manual of Gardening, Bailey; Studies in Gardening, Clutton-Brock; Another Hardy Garden Book, Ely; The Making of a Flower Garden, Bennett; The Garden Blue-book, Holland; Making a Garden of Perennials, Egan; Making a Rose Garden, Saylor; The Pruning Manual, L. H. Bailey; Window Gardening, H. B. Dorner; A Garden Bluebook of Annuals and Biennials, H. S. Ortloff; Peonies in the Little Garden, King; The Joyous Art of Gardening, Duncan; The Culture of Perennials, Cloud; Practical Gardening, Findlay; Home Vegetables and Small Fruits, Duncan; The Potato, Grubb; Vegetable Gardening, Green; Orchard and Fruit Garden, Powell; Four Seasons in a Garden, Rexford; Making a Bulb Garden, Tabor; Making a Garden With Hotbed and Coldframe, Miller; Putman's garden handbook; House and Garden's book of gardens.

Mrs. Herman A. Kasten and Miss Ruth Kasten, 220 Poplar street, formerly of Kenilworth, have rented their home in Winnetka for one year, and departed Tuesday to motor to Los Angeles. They will break their long drive by spending two weeks on a ranch in Wyoming, and they will also visit the Grand Canyon.

Mrs. John Wilds, 244 Oxford road, Kenilworth, entertained at luncheon and bridge Tuesday last.

Mrs. James Parmelee of Indian Hill entertained at bridge Wednesday, May 19.
