

A Home and Garage of Your Own

Your neighbors and dozens of their friends own their own homes and garages. They find it less expensive than you do to rent yours—and they have a feeling of security, which is denied to you. Come in and talk this over with us. We will build you the kind of home and garage, which bring you life long satisfaction. The financing we can arrange in such a manner that you will feel it no more than paying rent.

Glencoe Man Heads Paul Schroeder Co., Evanston Offices

L. C. Gregory of 465 Woodlawn avenue, Glencoe, who recently opened a real estate office at 2930 Central street, Evanston, reports much activity, especially in vacant, in that portion of North Evanston.

Mr. Gregory was, for some years, manager of the Evanston office of Paul Schroeder and company, and, therefore, is very familiar with values and conditions in this particular field.

His report of sales since the opening of his office, include the southwest corner of Harrison street and Lawndale avenue to John A. Pearson and Axel P. Sax, who will erect a six room brick veneer house thereon; Ralph L. Hardman has purchased from Arthur W. Ruehle, 70 feet on Thayer street, on which he will erect a six room brick bungalow; Max Whitkower has sold to Martin Anderson his vacant property on Thayer street and on which Mr. Anderson expects to build a residence, at once.

Mr. Gregory's sales during this brief period also include two houses, one at 2904 Hartzell street, a two-story brick veneer colonial house which he sold for Nels Nelson to Robert L. Chestnut, and 2627 Lincolnwood drive, another of Nelson's houses, sold to W. P. Thatcher, president of the Randall Graphite Products company.

BLEND REALTY — ART

Heinsen and Kroll Wilmette Office Walls Adorned with Beautiful Photography

Heinsen and Kroll of 421 Fourth street, Wilmette, who have the nucleus of what promises to become an unusually attractive collection of photographs with which they are adorning the walls of their real estate office, have just added a rare piece of art in the way of photography—a large photograph of the new Chicago Tribune Tower building on Michigan avenue. This photograph is 15 inches wide by 29 inches in length and is an aeroplane view. Arthur E. Clason, of the aerial department of the Kaufmann and Fabry company of Chicago, made the exposure from which the picture was produced.

In order to obtain the picture, the pilot of the aeroplane in which Clason and his special camera were circling about seeking the most advantageous point for exposure, swooped down in Michigan avenue to about the eleventh story of the building and then, very dexterously, shot up and out of the veritable pocket into which he had dared enter.

But Clason, at the critical moment, had snapped his lense, the result being one of the finest exposures, it is said, that was ever made of Chicago's many sky-scrapers. It is a photograph which requires none of the foregoing explanation to attract even the novice in photography. To the more experienced in the art, it is a piece of work which is at once admired.

A companion piece to the Tribune Tower photo and which has been framed, with outside dimensions of 24 by 63 inches, is a panoramic view of the Michigan avenue sky line, with the Allerton club on the extreme north and extending some distance below the new Stevens hotel building on the south. In the immediate foreground of this photograph, is shown the outdrive.

Drapery Manufacturer Buys Home in Wilmette

William M. St. Clair, of Chicago, through Miss C. J. Hoey, of the North Shore Real Estate company, 418 Linden avenue, Wilmette, has purchased the J. Alfred Johnson home there at 935 Oakwood avenue. He will take possession June 1. The Johnsons are moving to Chicago.

Mr. St. Clair is president of the William M. St. Clair company, of 4611 Ravenswood avenue, Chicago, manufacturers of window shades and draperies. He enjoys a wide acquaintance, both in a business and social way, along the north shore, from Evanston to Lake Forest, throughout which area he has supplied shades and drapes for many of the most beautiful homes.

JOINS BOND COMPANY

F. P. Malone of Evanston, who has been associated with Quinlan and Tyson in their Winnetka real estate office at 746 Elm street, is leaving June 1 to accept a position with a bond house in Chicago. His successor in the Winnetka office is Frank M. Orndorff, also of Evanston.
