

HARVARD GRADUATES FROLIC IN WINNETKA

Alumni in Winnetka to Participate in Great Convention of College Men Next Week

Winnetka will be the center of Harvard interest during part of the approaching convention of the Associated Harvard clubs to be held in Chicago June 3, 4 and 5, as the Saturday afternoon program is to be held in Winnetka.

Winnetka and Hubbard Woods men are taking a prominent part in the preparation for the convention and in the management. Among the residents of Winnetka and Hubbard Woods who are members of the committee are: John S. Miller, '11; Huyliker A. De-Windt, '81; W. C. Boyden, '86; Ayres Boal, '00; Francis A. Bonner, '07; F. W. Copeland, '13; Walter T. Fisher, '13, and W. C. Boyden, Jr., '16.

What is expected to be "the biggest Harvard party ever held outside of New York or Boston" will take place in Chicago next week, when the Associated Harvard clubs gather for their twenty-eighth annual meeting. The Associated Harvard clubs, which is probably the largest and most important organization of college alumni in the world, is the official organization of Harvard clubs throughout the world. There are 119 such Harvard clubs, of which most are active members of the association, situated in practically all the important cities of the United States and Canada and many foreign cities, including London, Paris, Berlin, Rome, Peking, Tokyo, Mexico City, Rio de Janeiro, Buenos Aires, San Juan (Porto Rico), Honolulu and Manila.

Chicago Club Oldest

Of all these clubs, the Harvard club of Chicago, which is the host for this convention, is the oldest, having been organized in 1857. Chicago Harvard men are determined to make this one of the outstanding meetings in the history of the association. Invitations have been mailed to the 45,000 living Harvard men. An attendance of 1,000 has been set, which will make it the largest meeting ever held, except those in Boston and New York. It is twelve years since the Harvard clubs last met in Chicago, in 1914. Previous meetings of the clubs were held here in 1906 and 1889, so that the Harvard club of Chicago will be the first to have entertained the Associated Harvard clubs four times.

Official headquarters of the meeting will be at the Drake hotel, and sessions will be held also at the Harvard-Yale-Princeton club, the University club, the Quadrangle club (University of Chicago), and at the Sherman House.

Special emphasis is being placed at the Chicago meeting on the affairs of the various graduate schools of Harvard university. There will be at the convention delegations from the alumni of eight of the graduate schools, including the Law school, Medical school, School of Business Administration, Graduate School of Arts and Sciences, School of Education, Engineering school, School of Architecture and Dental school.

Have Graduate Day

Thursday, June 3, has been set aside as Graduate Schools day. Alumni of the various schools will meet separately for business discussions during the day and at luncheons.

On Friday will be held the business meetings of the Associated Harvard clubs, at which officers and chairmen of the various committees will present their reports for discussion. John S. Miller of Winnetka, president of the Harvard clubs of Chicago, will be one of the speakers. William Thomas of San Francisco, president of the Associated Harvard clubs; Clarence C. Little, president of the University of Michigan; President Lowell, and others.

Saturday will be devoted entirely to recreation, with continuous opportunity for meeting old friends and making new ones. On Saturday morning delegates will march behind a band from the Drake hotel to the Municipal Pier to board the Steamship, "Alabama," for a short trip along the lake front, to give a sailor's-eye view of the city to the south. Returning to the Municipal Pier automobiles will take the delegates out along the north shore to Winnetka, where there will be an afternoon of sports and class reunions on the estate of Hathaway Watson. In the late afternoon the crowd will return by automobile to the Edgewater Beach hotel for tennis, swimming and an informal dinner and entertainment.
