Veteran Teacher Started New Trier in Dramatic Field

Alice Burchard, of the New Trier High school faculty, entered the school when it opened in February, 1901, after teaching at Chicago Heights for a year. She said that at first she had no intention of teaching at New Trier, and when her father suggested to her that she teach at the school, which was just being built, she jokingly replied, "Oh, I don't want to teach in a little country school!"

One of her main interests in the outside activities at New Trier when she first taught there was dramatics. Among the plays which she coached were "The Rivals," and "She Stoops to Conquer." The latter was so successful that the performance was repeated at the Kenilworth club Assembly hall.

When she was asked about the changes which had occurred in the quarter of a century in connection with New Trier, Miss Burchard answered: "If I were to be transported back there in those times, I don't think it would be much different than it is now."

Stamp Collectors Have Own Club at New Trier

The New Trier High school Stamp and Coin club is made up of those students who are enthusiasts in that line. It holds regular meetings once a month, when topics of interest to collectors are discussed. The members have a pleasant time trading specimens and inspecting the collections of each other. It has no regular dues, but the club usually makes up a sum sufficient to buy a yearly catalog and a magazine or two.

Drama Director

Miss Elisabeth Stanwood

Much of the success of the great Anniversary Pageant is attributable to the skill and energy of Miss Elisabeth Stanwood, supervisor of dramatics at the school, whose work it is to coach all of the dramatic enterprises at New Trier. Under Miss Stanwood's patient direction, drama has found an important place in school activities. Whereas, some few years ago it was difficult to assemble a cast for a play, today the candidates for "try-outs" are more than plentiful. This permits a fine discrimination in the selection of players and is one of the distinct reasons for the high standard of excellence of New Trier dramatic presentations. Four major plays are staged by Miss Stanwood each school year, in addition to many other minor performances, and several operettas staged in conjunction with the Music department of the school, of which Mrs. Homer E. Cotton, is director.

New Trier Band Ranks High in State Contests

One of the flourishing organizations at New Trier High school is the school band, J. C. Schumacher, director. One of its primary purposes is to furnish music for indoor and outdoor athletics. Free instruction on all band instruments is given New Trier students.

In addition to many orchestral instruments which are used in the band, the school owns the following instruments: one cornet, two tubas, two baritones, three melophones, three trombones, a bass saxophone, a bass drum and snare drums.

During the year 1923-24, the citizens of New Trier township furnished the band with attractive uniforms. In the state band contest that year the New Trier band won second place, bringing a handsome trophy to the school. Members of the band received medals. The band was placed high in the state contest this year.

G. A. A. Is Big Boost to N. T. Girls' Athletics

One of the most important clubs at New Trier High school is the Girls' Athletic association, which was organized for the support and development of girls' athletics. Membership is acquired by winning an emblem on a class team, or being on a winning team in other tournaments. The club holds regular business meetings and gives several social affairs, such as the masquerade, basketball banquet, and initiation during the school year. Last year the girls gave a vaudeville show, the receipts of which were used for school purposes. G. A. A. now has about two hundred members.
