WINNETKA BUILDING NEWS

Vol. I

Winnetka, Ill.

No. 15

"This is the season of the year when you never know whether to wear a palm beach suit or an umbrella," complains Judge Northrup.

It is also the time of the year when new driveways should be made and the old ones to be repaired. We have the materials, also a list of contractors who specialize in this work.

A tourist was horrified to see a baby sitting on a stump overhanging a swift stream. Older boys were playing near by. "Aw, he can't fall in," was the alibi, "we nailed his shirt tail to the stump."

The William Salmen company have moved into their new quarters at 990 Linden avenue, Hubbard Woods, where they have a modern, well-equipped, nicely furnished office. Mr. Salmen is leaving Monday, June 21, for a vacation in Europe.

This week we furnished them with some large timbers for their work on Mr. John Stuart's home at 990 Sheridan road. There is nothing in the timber line too large or too small for us to furnish. Let us know your wants.

They say that Jesse James was a great golfer. Every time his opponents caught up with him he made a hole in one.

C. Christensen, our friend from Highwood, is making rapid strides on the new residence at 576 Drexel avenue, Glencoe. This exterior will be stucco above and brick below. The brick being used is new in this territory and the building promises to be an exceptionally attractive one.

"My husband," says a Winnetka lady, "used to play the banjo. Now he picks on me."

It is getting late in the season and the prices of some of the most popular fuels advanced June 1st. If you have not already placed your order for fuel, it would be good business to phone Winnetka 734, and do so at once.

We've always noticed that the same weather that produces good crops, also grows weeds.

Arden Shore Board Thanks Residents for Generosity

Workers for the Arden Shore camp, which recently conducted a drive for funds and various articles needed at the camp expressed their thanks to residents through a communication sent to WINNETKA TALK this week. The letter is as follows:

"It is with deepest gratitude that the Board of Arden Shore and especially the Winnetka chairman wishes to thank each worker during our recent drive. It has been a difficult task and for the most part you citizens have greeted us cordially.

"The generous donations of money, clothing and furniture will help the children have a perfect vacation. Those who have as yet not sent in their contributions are urged to remember these children who otherwise will not have a vacation."

Who Has Lost His Pony? Police Can't Find Owner

Winnetka police are in a curious predicament. As the Chief says, "It's a horse on us." And that's literally true, for the department is the unwilling custodian of a horse which they cannot get rid of. The horse, a bay gelding in good condition, was found wandering about in the village some two weeks ago. Police escorted it to the Municipal Service yard, and proceeded to search for the owner. But no owner can be found, although police from Chicago to Waukegan have been notified. In the meantime the horse goes on eating at the rate of $2 a day. Expert opinion agrees that it will soon belong to the Village.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson K. Dering, Jr., who were married June 12, (Dorothy Elisabeth Roehm) will meet Mr. Dering's mother, Mrs. Jackson K. Dering, of the Ambassador hotel, in Paris, later in the summer. Mrs. Dering, senior, sailed June 17, on the Aquitania from New York, having waited to attend her son's wedding.

Return from Wonder Tour of Southwest and Great Northwest

E. Dudley Bradstreet, of 772 Walden road and I. B. Connor, of 1152 Hamp-tondale road, returned Tuesday from a 7500 mile motor trip through the Southwest, along the Pacific coast and up through the Northwest. They left here April 26 and enjoyed every minute of their travel, which they say was attended by ideal weather conditions and over the best of roads, in all the journey.

The traveled to LaHunta, Colo., the third day. From there on they began taking the trip more leisurely, in order to appreciate the many pleasures which this scenic route affords. Journeying on up the coast to Portland, they returned via the Columbia highway, the Oregon trail and Lincoln highway, including beautiful Yellowstone park in their itinerary.

Mr. Bradstreet says this is indeed the ideal time of year to make a trip of this kind. He was especially loud in his praise of the wonderful improvements in the highways which have been made in the last few years. "Wonderful roads, throughout the trip," is the way he expressed it, with good wide concrete across Missouri and Kansas, in which states a few years ago, motorists experienced all sorts of grief.

SALON HOSTESS

Mrs. Charles M. Hayes, 483 Sheridan road, entertained the Cameo Salon of Chicago, of which Guion McClellan is president, in her home, June 13. Mrs. Thalia Kochlitz, 215 Harbor street, Glencoe, gave a reading of "Tant-mieux" in memory of the late Donald Robertson, who wrote the selection, and with whom she studied.

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. McLean, 879 Cherry street, are being congratulated on the birth of a daughter, June Louise, on June 17, at the Evanston hospital. Mrs. McLean was formerly Mable Carlson.
