

Install New Officers
at Horace Mann School

Friday of this week marked the closing Assembly at Horace Mann school at which time the recently elected fifteen officers of the student body were installed to formally enter upon their respective duties at the beginning of the next school year.

At the same time, service pins were given to the five children, who, in the opinion of the children and teachers of the school, have best served the school the past year.

These pins are made from a design by Jamie Odell, of last year's sixth grade, and which has been adopted as a permanent design.

A certain number of other children received service badges.

Country Day Boys Drub Fathers in Ball Game

Smarting under the unexpected and cataclysmic defeat administered to them by their sons in the annual baseball game of the spring festival at the North Shore Country Day school, the parents challenged the victors to a return game which was played last week-end.

Again the sons were victorious, this time by a considerably closer score of 8 to 4 in a five inning game, with rain interrupting.

Mothers' Picnic Rained
Out; but Have Good Time

A group of mothers of Horace Mann school children, under the direction of Mrs. Hobart Young, chairman of the social committee, gave a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Young, 708 Prospect avenue, Tuesday. It was originally planned as a picnic luncheon at the lake, but owing to the recent rains and unfavorable weather the plans were changed to an indoor affair, which, by the way, was none the less an enjoyable affair.
