NORTH SHORE LEADER DIRECTS MOOSE MEET

Dr. William E. Buehler of Glencoe General Chairman of International Convention

With the arrival of Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, director general of the Loyal Order of Moose, Monday of this week, preparations for the international convention of that order, from July 1 to July 6, came to a head. Mr. Davis is quartered in the "Presidential bungalow" on the roof of the Hotel Sherman.

Dr. William E. Buehler, of Glencoe, general chairman of the convention committee, states that the arrangements for the five days and nights have been perfected and that this will be the most important assemblage the order has ever held.

"It will take first importance," Dr. Buehler says, "because the Loyal Order of Moose is now at the highest point of membership in its history—having grown from less than seven hundred, at which point Mr. Davis became its head and under whose direction and management it has grown to 750,000. The membership in Chicago and vicinity is also greater than ever was known before, there being nearly 20,000 on the rolls here. The convention will also take first place because Chicago has Mooseheart in its arms, you might say, and everyday the citizens of Chicago are becoming more and more aware of the natural charm and the practical service of this wonderful home, school, industrial academy and citizenship-university which is maintained solely by the members of the Moose. Another feature that lends importance to this convention is that this year the supreme dictatorship is to be conferred upon a distinguished citizen of our sister country to the north, the dominion of Canada, thus emphasizing the international character of the order. We expect fully a quarter of a million visitors during the convention—no such huge assemblage as Chicago has just entertained, yet a pretty good sized crowd. Our international parade on July 5 should have 25,000 men in line, and will be a splendid sight. The spectacular pageant and dramatic production, 'The Birth of Chicago,' on Soldiers' Field, will be an unusual feature of the week, and the general program is arranged to appeal to all the members of our order, as well as to the general public whenever and wherever public attendance is possible."

The convention was opened formally at 9:30 o'clock, Thursday, with a public session at the Auditorium theater. It was preceded by a concert by the Mooseheart Boys band, and there were also solos by Raimond Baltar, the Mooseheart boy tenor, Agnes Lighthall, Mario Carboni and Marie Sedenius Zendt.

The women of Mooseheart Legion—the women's branch of the order—has a program arranged for each day, and has scheduled a "grand frolic" for Saturday evening in the Bal Tabarin room of the Sherman.

Sunday, July 4, will be the occasion of a pilgrimage to Mooseheart, the entire program for that day being scheduled for the children's home there. Graduation exercises of the Mooseheart school will take place then. The affair is open to the public and a crowd of thousands is expected.

Monday, July 5, will occur the big civic celebration and Moose parade. The celebration will be in Grant Park, with addresses by the Hon. James J. Davis, Hon. Oscar Carlstrom and Hon. Rodney H. Brandon. The parade will form at Chicago avenue, march south on Michigan avenue, and file into Grant Park at the Stadium.

Can't you remember when a bunch of firecrackers was the height of entertainment?

Tom Meyer has just finished pouring another concrete basement for R. E. Crosby at Elm and Walnut streets. We furnished him with Alpha Portland Cement. Another good foundation. Where you see our sign, notice the quality of materials.

Boys, when you light the giant firecracker and it fizzes and doesn't explode, bend down over it and blow the fuse. This is hard on the eyes but it gets results.

There are extensive repairs and additions being made at our water works. Mr. White, contractor. Most of this is concrete work for which we are furnishing Universal Portland Cement and form lumber, of required strength, is used on this structure. Service is a large factor on this job with Mr. White and he is assured of what he wants and when he wants it, with Winnetka Coal-Lumber Co. making deliveries.

Another suggestion—tie a bunch of firecrackers to a dog's tail. He will run under the barn and you'll have a nice big fire.

If you're looking for an artistic face brick, we have it. It is called "Old Rose Missouri," and makes a beautiful building. Also a large variety of other shades and textures.

Always point the Roman candle toward your little sister. It adds to the noise and confusion and makes the day one long to be remembered.

"Never put off until tomorrow, that which you can do today." This motto is intended for the man who delays in ordering his coal until cold weather comes.

"Before we celebrate," suggests Fred Richardson, "let's pause to reflect what the celebration is all about."
