Fire Damages Portion of C. and N. W. Station Roof

A fire in the west gable of the depot of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad company, at Elm street, Friday evening of last week at about 10 o'clock, resulted in estimated damage to the building of about $200 and slight injury to William Scully, one of the firemen, who sustained an ugly wound on the left cheek from a piece of slate falling from the roof.

The fire started up near the roof, adjacent to where the wires enter the building, and it is presumed was caused by some defects in the wiring. It was necessary to make an opening in the slate roof to get at the blaze. It was then soon extinguished, without having to use a great deal of chemical or water.

Mr. Scully, the injured fireman, was given first aid treatment by Richard Houren, son of Chief Houren, following which Dr. Albert H. Wales, dressed the wound. Scully was able to resume his duties.
