KENILWORTH ENJOYS FOURTH CELEBRATION

Many Are Winners in Athletic Contests and Races; Record Crowd Attends

With weather ideal, the annual children's Fourth of July parade in Kenilworth was the largest and by far the most elaborate ever staged in the village. The parade was headed by the Union League Club Boy's band, and decorated vehicles of all descriptions and patriotic costumes of all nationalities were among the features. The judges for the displays were Mrs. George R. Benson, Mrs. Walter Noble Gillett, Mrs. Hugh G. Peterson, and Mrs. Grant Ridgeway, who had a very difficult task in selecting the winners. "George" and "Martha Washington," "Pocahontas," "John Smith," the "Firecracker Girl," the "Boys of the Plains," "The Circus Wagon," "The Airplane Girl," and others too numerous to mention came in for their share of the prizes.

Following the distribution of prizes for the parade was a baseball game between the Fathers, headed by Alex Joslin, and the Sons, captained by Robert Joslin. The fathers at no stage of the game had even the slightest hope of winning. The score was 14 to 3 at the end of the seventh inning when the dads quit.

Athletic Events

In the afternoon, the athletic events were held at the New Trier high school athletic field, and were spectacular from start to finish, ten events being run at the same time. More than forty of the Kenilworth dads acted as judges and starters.

According to Roy H. Jarrett, who was chairman of the whole affair, the committee in charge is entitled to considerable credit for the planning and carrying out of this extensive program. The committee included Charles H. Nelson, field marshall, Robert Townley, athletic director, Frank W. Ketcham, Harold O. Barnes, Alex S. Joslin, Harold F. Tideman, Herbert B. Taylor, Leon B. Allen, Louis D. Jones, Don W. Mercer, Jas. Ralph Starr, Walter A. Knoop, William D. Glennon and Charles W. Driver.

The high point in the athletic events follows: boys and girls under 6 years—Billie Stebbins—first; John Dix and Virginia Wilson, tied for second; Jimmie Olin—third; Kirk Dilling—fourth. Boys 7 and 8 years old—Dewitt Jones—first; Gilbert Mc Intosh—second; Mike Connley—third; Hugh Peterson and John Stalmsmith, tied for fourth. Boys 9 and 10 years—Lowry Botthof, first; Jimmie McArthur, second; George Benson, Jr., third; Benjamin Matthews and Carlton Ross, tied for fourth. Boys 11 and 12 years—Alex Newton, first; Billy Nelson, second; Dick Joslin, third; Robert Matheson and Perry Shortridge, tied for fourth. Boys 13 and 14 years—Tom Hicks, first; Harry Richards, second; Fred Weterer and Charles Vandeveld, tied for third; Tom Saxton, fourth. High school boys—Marvin Baker, first; Tom Coyne, second; Bruce Hulbert, third; Dan Snyder, fourth; Albert Richards and Bob Joslin, tied for fifth.

Girl Winners

Girls 7 and 8 years—Mary Maloney, first; Virginia Richards, second; Betty Breit, third; Margaret Tideman, fourth; Shirley Botthof and Vera Peterson, tied for fifth; Helen Glennon, sixth. Girls 9 and 10 years—Jane Mc Intosh, first; Dorothy De Moulton, second; Jane Bisbee, third. Girls 11 and 12 years—Ruth Johnston, first; Gertrude Mathews, second; Jane Darling, third; Mary Richards, fourth; Ruth Sowers, fifth. Girls 13 to 14 years—Mary Thorsen, first; Jane Littell, second; Hilda Swanson, third; Mary Vanderveld, fourth.

The gold medal winners in the events were: Billie Stebbins, Dewitt Jones, Lowry Botthof, Alex Newton, Tom Hicks, Marvin Baker, Mary Maloney, Jane Mc Intosh, Ruth Johnston, and Mary Thorsen. These had the largest numbers of points.

The events which were run off were: standing broad jump; hop skip, and jump; high jump; 50 yard race; backward race; three-legged race; sack race; 100 yard race; wheelbarrow race; jockey race; 75 yard race; and spoon and egg race. The tug-of-war between the men, captained by Charles D. Howe, and the high school boys, lead by Charles Howe, Jr., had to be stopped because the rope broke under the strain.

Gold medals were given to the contestant having the greatest number of points in his or her class, and individual prizes for the winners of the special events.
