

duction, "Partners Again—with Potash and Perlmutter" comes to the Village next Friday and Saturday, October 1 and 2, comedy lovers are promised a portion of laughs such as is seldom meted out in an evening.

Needless to say, "Partners Again" is another of those rollicking business comedies wherein the famous partners, portrayed by George Sidney and Alexander Carr, engage in a distinctly different line of business.

This time it is the distribution of automobiles which captures their fancy. They deal in the "Schenckmann Six," a car principally noted for its faults. Many and harrassing are their experiences in demonstrating the new models, and many hair-breadth escapes are their lot.

In addition the latest Harry Langdon two-reel comedy, "Plain Clothes," and a Pathe news reel will be shown.

NORSHORE THEATRE

Russia—quaint, mysterious, rough, fickle Russia—provides the background for Corinne Griffith's latest First National picture, "Into Her Kingdom," which opens Sunday at Balaban and Katz' Norshore theatre. The brilliant and popular star has been given her most dramatic and undoubtedly most impressive character.

The picture was directed by the famous Danish director, Svend Gade and the leading male role is played by the Swedish star, Einar Hanson, giving the picture a cosmopolitan touch. Claude Gillingwater and Charles Crockett are in the supporting cast.

The second half of the week brings a new farce-comedy with a splendid cast to view. Norma Shearer, Conrad Nagel, George K. Arthur and Mary McAlister are the principal stars and the picture is called "The Waning Sex." Appropriate stage, screen and musical specialties are always presented in conjunction.

Miss Ethel Hale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Hale, 761 Foxdale avenue, has returned to Elmira college, Elmira, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Anderson, 178 Myrtle street, have returned from an extended trip through Canada.

STAGE NOTES

The 1926-1927 dramatic season in Chicago has opened with nearly every loop theater offering a new attraction. There is apparently something to suit each taste from light opera to the questionable farce. Some are destined to be quite successful, others will pass on without causing a ripple on the dramatic surface. A few of those now on display are briefed herewith.

"KONGO"

Princess theatre

An exciting and thrilling play of jungle life despite a plot more or less mediocre. You will be fascinated by the splendid acting of Walter Huston and interested by the interpretations of Clarence Redd, Richard Stevenson and Harold de Becker to such an extent that the short-comings of the plot may be overlooked. See it for thrills and chills.

"THE VAGABOND KING"

Great Northern theatre

One of the outstanding musical entertainments of the year in which Dennis King and a host of others, including Aleta Edwards, present this musical version of "If I Were King," to the delight of capacity audiences. A brief canvas of those who have seen it develops the almost unanimous opinion that it excels even "The Student Prince."

"SONG OF THE FLAME"

Apollo theatre

Tessa Kosta and Guy Robertson, with more than a hundred others, including the Russian Art Choir, present Otto Harbach's and Oscar Hammerstein's musical production which deals historically with Russia during the world war. Scenic effects and costumes are splendid and the singing excellent. Entertainment of the highest class.
