Frame Ordinance to Regulate Flight of Airplanes Over City

An ordinance prohibiting aviators from flying lower than 2,000 feet over residential sections, business districts and large gatherings has been drafted by Corporation Counsel William A. Lister of Evanston, and will be introduced at the next meeting of the city council there.

The ordinance was drawn up several weeks ago by Mr. Lister and is expected to be passed at once by the council. The mishap last Saturday afternoon in which a plane flying low over the football stadium ran out of gas and fell into the drainage canal is expected to hasten the action of the aldermen.

Adolph Korsgen, of Glencoe, pilot of the plane which fell into the canal, and his mechanic, John Luks, of Chicago, leaped from the machine to safety. However, four were seriously hurt when fire truck No. 2 which had been called to the scene, crashed into a touring car at Ridge avenue and Church street, Evanston.
