

HOLD CONFERENCE ON NURSING EDUCATION

North Shore Women Interested in Meeting to be Addressed by Famed Experts

How the nursing profession is meeting the ever increasing needs of the community will be explained by several distinguished speakers at a luncheon to be given next Thursday at the Casino club, 167 East Delaware place by a committee of Chicago women interested in advancing the profession of nursing.

The committee of which Mrs. James A. Patten is general chairman is bringing Miss Annie Warburton Goodrich, R. N., Sc. D., dean of the School of Nursing in Yale university to Chicago to speak on "Some Newer Branches of Nursing for Community Service." Dean Goodrich is one of the most eminent nurses in the United States and has won wide recognition for her efforts to aid humanity through better nursing.

Mrs. Harry F. Williams, who, as president of the Board of Directors of the Illinois Training School for Nurses, conducted the negotiations for the recently announced merger of that school with the University of Chicago as a nucleus for the third University School of Nursing, will tell what may be expected from this notable contribution to the advancement of nursing education in the middle west.

The third speaker at the Casino luncheon, which is given under the auspices of a group of lay people interested in nursing known as the Central Council for Nursing Education, 116 South Michigan avenue, will be May Ayres Burgess, Ph. D. Dr. Burgess is directing a five year study of nursing education and schools of nursing under the auspices of the committee on grading schools of nursing, comprised of the national nursing organizations, the American Medical association, American Hospital association, National Public Health association, American College of Surgeons and several noted specialists in education including Prof. W. W. Charters of the University of Chicago.

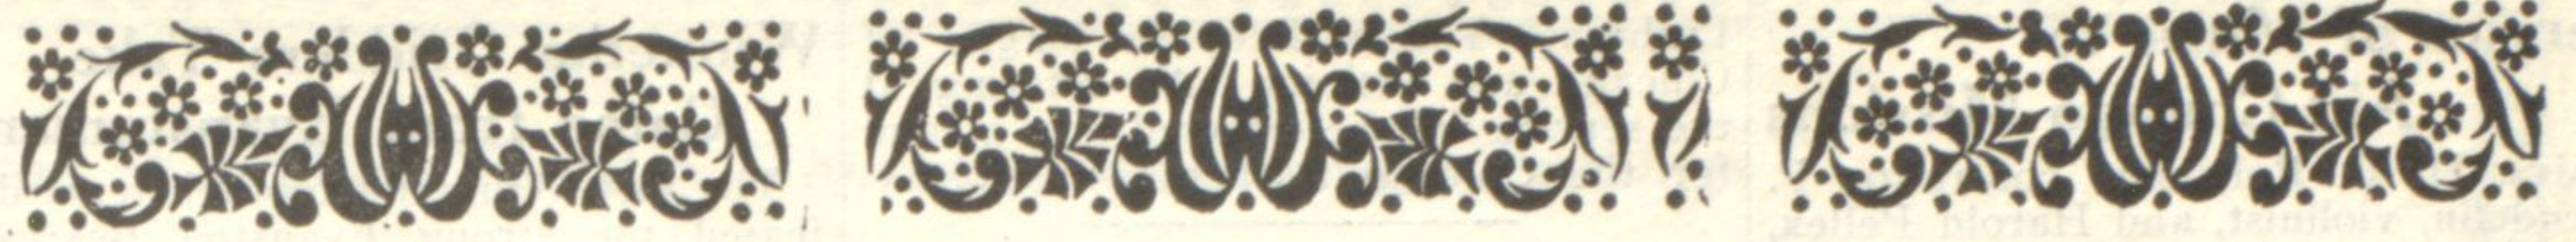

Among the specially invited guests of council at the Casino luncheon will be Mrs. Harold L. Ickes and Mrs. B. F. Langworthy, of Winnetka.

The committee in charge of the luncheon in addition to Mrs. Patten consists of Mrs. Perkins B. Bass, Mrs. John W. Gary, Mrs. Ernest E. Irons, Mrs. John MacMahon, Mrs. James Simpson, Mrs. Arthur H. Spiegel, Mrs. Theodore Ticken, Mrs. Paul Walker, Mrs. Lyman Thomas Walker, Mrs. Harry F. Williams, Mrs. John P. Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Marshall of 674 Prospect avenue, will return today from a month's motor trip to Quebec, Canada. They have included Philadelphia and New York on their return trip, and stopped over for the Yale-Amherst football game.

Mrs. Cloyde W. Snyder of 253 Franklin road, Glencoe, will entertain members of Gamma Phi Beta sorority at luncheon and bridge, Monday, October 25, at her home. This is the regular monthly meeting of the sorority.

Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Ely of Winnetka spent a few days at the Orrington hotel before going to Philadelphia where they were called by the illness of Dr. Ely's sister.

Nourishing Lunch for School Children

SEND the young folks to The Central Cafeteria at noon for a delicious, appetizing luncheon to give them vitality for study and strenuous play.

There are tempting salads, light entrees, good desserts—and pure milk in a big glass to top off a healthful lunch.

Dozens of mothers send the children to The Central because it's so convenient and economical—and good for the little folks.
