

NEW DASCH MUSICIANS ACCORDED AN OVATION

Little Symphony Orchestra, Composed of New Talent, Has Brilliant Inaugural

BY MUSIC CRITIC

The New Little Symphony orchestra of Chicago which George Dasch conducts in the first concert of the Orchestral association series Monday night of this week at New Trier auditorium, gave a pleasing impression of youth from the large number of talented young musicians at the various desks. Their playing has the zest and enthusiasm of youth that called forth an instant response from the large audience. There was nothing perfunctory about their work and at the end of a spirited program, Mr. Dasch and the orchestra were given a veritable ovation.

During the summer Mr. Dasch has performed herculean tasks of reorganizing entirely his group of symphony players. After the intermission on Monday night the audience was informed that they were having the unique experience of listening to the first public concert of an entirely new and entirely independent symphony orchestra. Very few of the audience, however, could have had any idea of the courage with which Mr. Dasch and his able manager, Mr. Schulte, have overcome the thousand discouragements incident to such an undertaking. With this new group of able and loyal musicians Mr. Dasch expects to take his symphony music to many a community where jazz and the movie have been without any competition. His is a fine and a laudable ambition and he started his season on Monday with the good wishes of a thousand New Trier people made manifest by the heartiest applause.

The audience of the Orchestral association differs from any other audience in New Trier. There seems to be a sense of personal loyalty to the association which is made up of all those who purchased season tickets. In the intermission there is a leisurely visiting among the groups of friends in the mess hall and around the auditorium. This is a community enterprise which seems to give an unusual satisfaction to its supporters.

During the afternoon about 850 of the young people from the high school and the upper grades of the grammar school of the township listened to a program of about an hour's length. These afternoon programs are made possible by the co-operation of the music supervisor and the Orchestral association. As far as possible the programs are analyzed in advance and are made the basis of true musical appreciation. It is very doubtful whether the parents of the township appreciate the opportunity which the children are given to acquire the real musical taste. In this respect New Trier is in line with the most advanced practice in a few of the finest schools of the country.

It was announced at the evening concert that some tickets had been subscribed for but not taken up and that they would be for sale by the chairmen in the four towns. An ambitious program for the year has been planned and it is necessary that all tickets be sold in order to carry the program out in its entirety.

Some new facts on where to live

IN Evanston the ideal home location is midway between the lake and transportation. Away from downtown, yet close to every activity, this is a fitting site for an apartment of distinction and unusual charm.

Here, both outside and within, you will find a building suited to the home atmosphere of Evanston. Light streams in its windows across a quarter acre of garden. Cheery log fires will burn on the hearths of its four, five and six room apartments.

In gleaming tile baths with overhead showers, in immaculate kitchens where incinerators and mechanical refrigeration aid in homemaking, in ample closets and beautiful appointments you will note a scrupulous attention to the things that make for comfortable living.

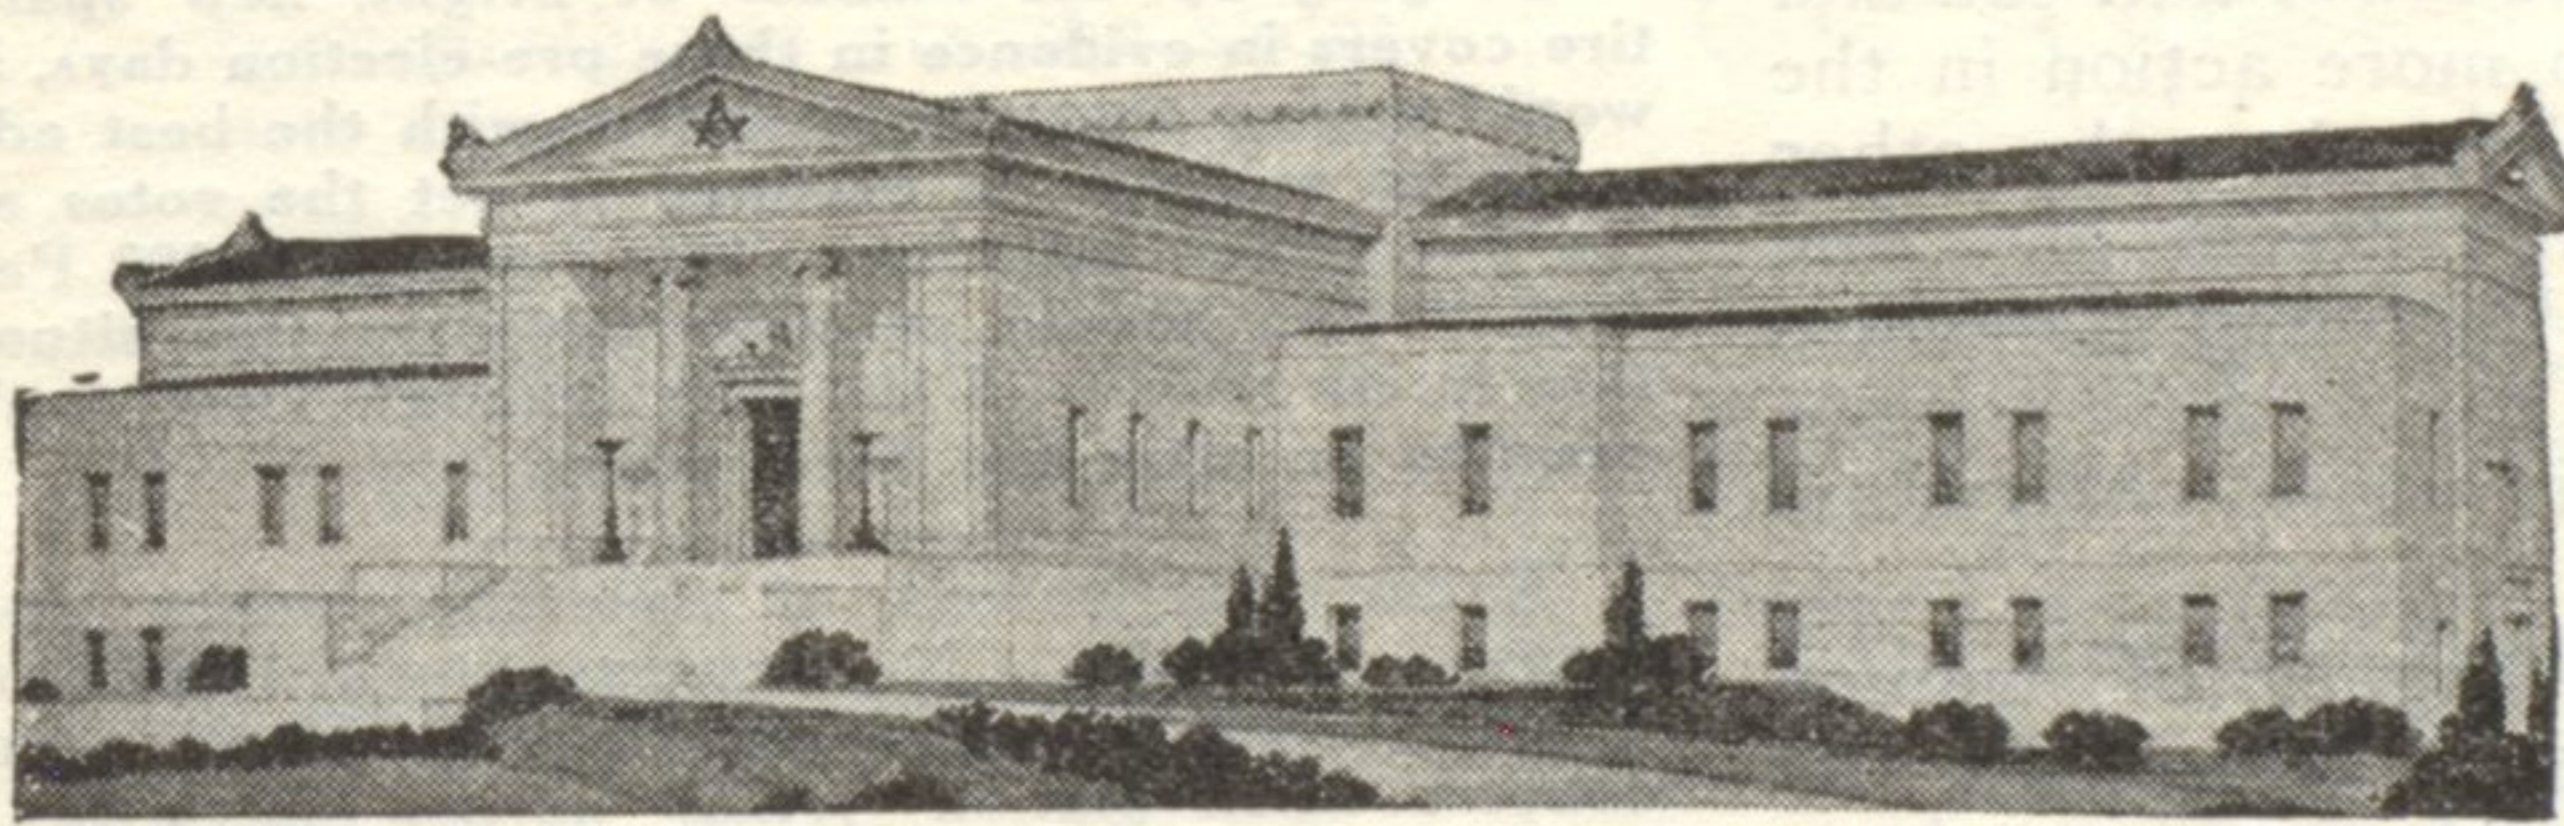

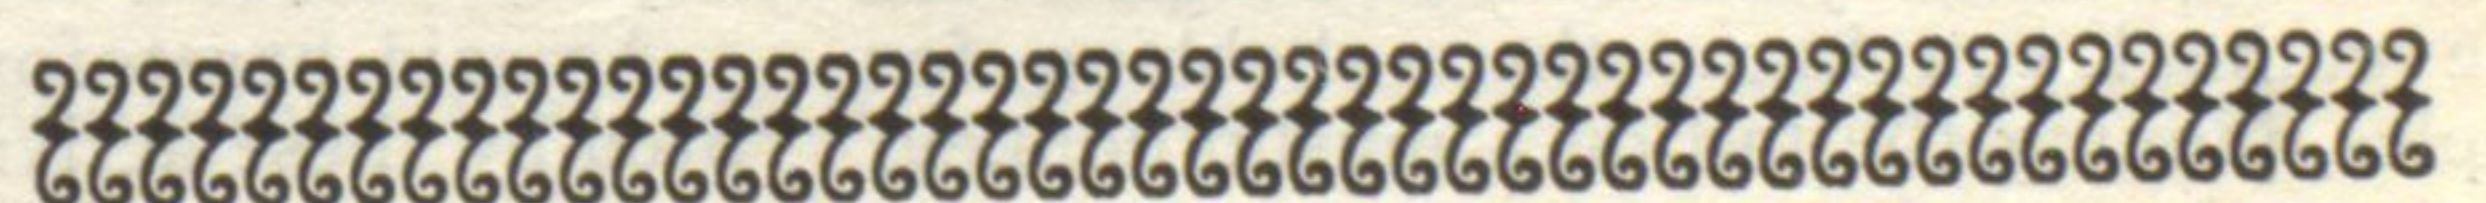

You may spend an interesting half hour on a tour of inspection, arranged at your convenience.
