

ART LEAGUE ON WAY TO BIGGEST SEASON

night of the exhibition, when artists and friends gathered together informally.

The keynote of the meeting was that of cordiality, toward new artists, toward those interested in art though not artists themselves, and toward making this organization an inclusive rather than exclusive one.

James Cody Ewell, president of the league, presented the spirit of the league in such a way that those who before felt that the organization might possibly exclude beginners, or those who could not actually draw, paint or sketch, were made to feel welcome at the exhibits.

Evanston Joins League

Started three years ago in the Community House, with a handful of people who felt the urge to get together and give one another encouragement in the field of painting, drawing and sketching, the league has expanded and now includes towns all along the North Shore. With the mock solemn words that the League was in danger of being swamped, that the league now had added one of the greatest of towns, the announcement was made that Evanston was now a member.

Mr. Ewell spoke briefly of some of the summer's activities that the officers of the league had to care for. It seems that attention is being drawn to the league by other organizations of like character, and now that membership is becoming a matter of hundreds instead of tens, a power is growing that must be prepared for.

Following the regular business, Mr. Ewell introduced Albert H. Ullrich of Evanston who spoke on his travels in Europe this summer. Mr. Ullrich stressed his trip through Spain, as being most delightful, and said that in Spain one finds the new and creative in art. In Spain are young artists not afraid to "try their wings," and produce new and lovely art. Tourists luckily have not "found" many arts of Spain, and one may wander through quaint old villages, and down lanes where natives have not seen Americans before.

Tells of Chicago League

Mr. Ewell then introduced W. T. Jones of Wilmette who spoke of the splendid work done by the Business Men's Art league of Chicago. This league, founded in 1920, now has a membership of about 200 men, none of whom are under thirty years of age. In fact, no one is allowed to become a member until he has reached the enviable age of 30. The league has club rooms at 81 West Van Buren street, and conducts classes for members at regular intervals.

Feeling that the North Shore league members would like to have in mind the entire program for the year, president Ewell then announced the various monthly meetings, their time and place.

With members of the organization including almost every village, the policy will be this year to hold each monthly meeting in a different town. In November, Ravinia will be host to the club. The meeting will be held in the charming little Community House in Ravinia, where "The Skeleton in the Closet," a play written by Mrs. Lulu Warmington, the Ravinia playwright, as she is known, will be presented. An exhibition of sketches drawn by the Ravinia Sketch club will be shown. This club meets and works all summer, and the exhibition will show their accomplishments during this last summer.

In December the league will journey to the Woman's club of Evanston where north shore artists will exhibit. It is hoped that Mrs. Louise Hubbard will give a talk on "Landscape Gardening," at this meeting. Mrs. Hubbard is an authority on this subject.

In Wilmette in January

Wilmette artists will entertain the league in January, and in February, the meeting will be held in Highland Park when Lionel Robertson will speak on block printing of fabrics, etc., March and April will find the league back at the Community House in Winnetka. The March meeting will be Bohemian Night, when painting smocks will be worn. Work done in the classes will be on exhibition.

April will mark the closing of the official year of the league's activities, when the big exhibition will be held for the public. The annual banquet will take place, and a catalogued display of pictures made.
