

THEATRE GUILD OPENS WITH "AUTUMN FIRE"

Irish Drama by T. C. Murray Starts Sixth Season November 12 in Winnetka

"Autumn Fire" an Irish drama by T. C. Murray, is the opening play of the sixth season of the North Shore Theater Guild. It will be produced on November 12 and 13 in Winnetka, and on November 15 in Wilmette. It is one of the finest pieces in drama out of Ireland since its dramatic renaissance in 1902.

T. C. Murray is one of the younger Irish dramatists and ranks with St. John Ervine, Lennox Robinson, Padraic Colum, as the most promising of the younger Irish dramatists. He is a school teacher in Cork and one of his earlier plays, "Birthright," had a great success in the Abbey theater, Dublin, in 1910. It was later produced by those players in this country and received the critic's high praise. The public was moved by it more than any other play in the repertoire during the winter of 1911 and 1912.

Produced in London

"Autumn Fire" was produced in Dublin and last year, with an all Irish company, given in London. Sarah Allgood, who was the leading woman of the Irish Players in their tour in this country, played the leading role in the London production. The play was published by Houghton Mifflin company the past summer, at which time the Guild procured permission to produce it. It was unanimously approved by the guild's new play reading committee, composed of Henry Kitchel Webster, Mrs. Laird Bell and Louis Laffin.

The play, although laid in Ireland, is not local in its home and the situation is found the world over. It is extremely immediate. "Autumn Fire" is different in this respect from so many plays which have come out of Ireland in the last ten years because most of these have been political and social propaganda plays. There is nothing of this sort in "Autumn Fire."

The play will be directed by Alexander Dean, who is beginning his fourth season as director of the guild, and the production will be designed and executed by Aelyn Burtis, who has attended to the producing the last two years.

Expert Advisory Director

In addition to these, Miss Telka Beere will be an advisory director for the production, not only in assisting in the training of the dialect and action of the cast but also in the detail of the scenery and properties. Miss Beere is the first fellowship student to visit this country from the Irish Free State university. She is investigating the economics departments in the leading universities in this country and is at Northwestern until Christmas time. She will be a responsible and authentic advisor and the production will excel in realism of detail and in local color.

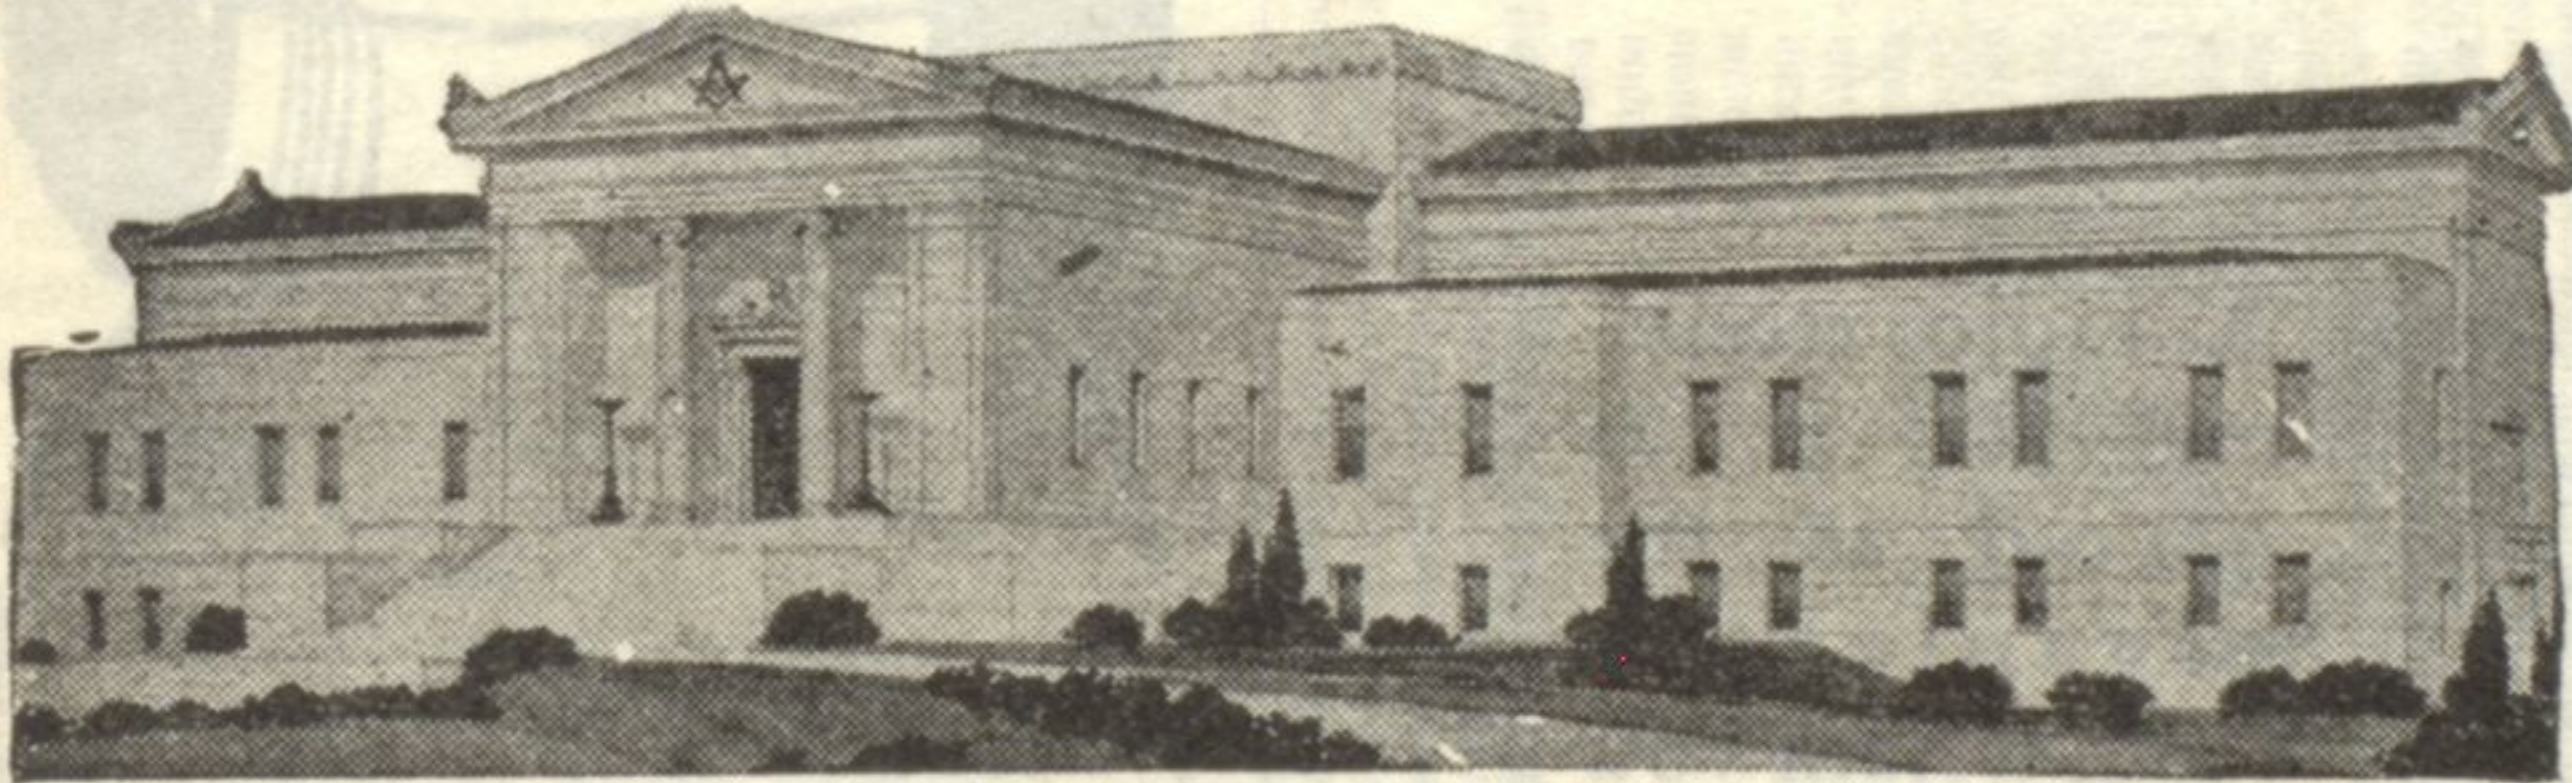

Membership tickets are going fast. Those wishing to subscribe for season tickets should communicate with Mrs. Enos W. Barton, chairman of the Winnetka committee, Mrs. Harry C. Holloway, chairman of the Glencoe committee, or Mrs. Robert Stoddard, chairman of the Wilmette committee.

Mrs. William H. Modes, 916 Oak street, was hostess at an afternoon party for a number of little friends of her daughter Kay, on Friday, October 22, the occasion being her daughter's fifth birthday.
