

PUBLIC FORUM

Editor,
WINNETKA TALK:

"Are you who live on the north shore aware of the numerous activities of an organization that is rapidly gaining recognition as purveyors of good entertainment?"

"I was fortunate enough to be present at their last public appearance, which happened to be a minstrel given on November 4. Secretly I had not expected to spend a very good evening, and I was filled with an apprehension as to the size of the audience before whom they would perform. For in scanning my 'TALK' I had not seen a great deal of mention regarding their intended performance. However, I was astonished at the large house they drew, and being an inquisitive sort of person I asked one of the members just how they were able to attract that number of persons with so little advertising. His reply was this, 'Oh! One soon finds out when the public is given a show of such good quality.'

"And that is just it. Their performance was remarkable for I was given to understand that all the actors were amateurs, and their exhibition bordering on the professional.

"You who have not had the opportunity of being entertained by the 'North Shore Glee Club,' would do well to make yourselves acquainted with their activities and attend their affairs.

"Any organization should be fostered whose interest is centered in the 'furthering of mens' chorus work, promotion of good, clean, entertainment, and of greater sociability on the north shore.'"

Mrs. Margaret A. Miller Dies at Evanston Home

The death of Mrs. Margaret A. Miller of 643 Hinman avenue, Evanston, formerly of Winnetka, occurred Monday, October 25, in her home.

Mrs. Miller, who was ninety years of age, lived in Ohio during her early days, and moved to Chicago in 1871 just after the Chicago Fire. Twenty-eight years later in 1900 she and her family moved to Winnetka, and lived here for many years.

When the family moved away from Winnetka, and took up their home in Evanston, Mrs. Miller left many warm friends, and a host of acquaintances. She is survived by four daughters and a son, Mrs. Charles Prest of California, Mrs. William B. Dale of 519 Ash street, Winnetka, the Misses Elizabeth and Florence Miller, who made their home with their mother, and Russell Miller of Chicago.

Funeral services were held in the Rosehill chapel, Saturday, October 30, with burial at Rosehill. Rev. H. E. Brown officiated.

An Extra $1,000 in Four Years

PLANs for the future must be definite if they are to be effective.

For instance, if you will put an extra five dollars in your Savings Account every week for four years you will have earned nearly $1,100 including interest.

That is worth while saving for. Begin on "the extra thousand" now.
