Winnetka Leaders Attend
 Dedication at Seminary

John R. Montgomery and David Fales of Winnetka, were among the friends of Dr. Graham Taylor present at the cornerstone laying ceremonies for Graham Taylor hall at the Chicago Theological seminary on the afternoon of November 18. Other friends of Dr. Graham who watched the ceremony were Mayor William E. Dever of Chicago, and Julius Rosenwald, the philanthropist.

Dr. Taylor sees in this hall, the gift of the alumni, the fulfillment of a dream of ten years. He first came to the seminary in 1893 as the first professor of social economics in seminary history. He also established Chicago commons, and stood behind many civic movements.

The hall is to be a Gothic assembly hall costing more than $150,000. It is to be completed in the spring of 1928. Another cornerstone was laid on the same occasion, this one for the seminary's new library building.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam S. Mendelsohn, 358 Winnetka avenue, are the grandparents of two girls born to their daughters, Mrs. Albert A. Kahn and Mrs. Harold A. Salomon.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Weisner of 943 Oak street, are entertaining Mr. Weisner's mother, Mrs. A. Weisner of Helena, Mont., who plans to remain here this winter.

Skokie School to Hold Xmas Bazaar
 Friday, Dec. 10

A Christmas bazaar at the Skokie school, which will open at 2 o'clock December 10, will offer an opportunity to get hand-made articles for Christmas presents. Contributions will be made by the art department, the metal working department, the sewing department and the cooking department.

There will be desk sets, sewing baskets, with thimble and tape measure in slates, shoetrees, cleverly dressed dolls, home made candy, peuter articles, such as: ash trays, book ends, plates, candlesticks, jewel boxes, paper knives, etc. Christmas cards first printed by the printing department and then hand painted by the art department will also be for sale at a few cents each.

Money received from the sale of articles in the bazaar will be devoted to different purposes; that from the sale of things in the art department will in part be spent to make some unfortunate person just a little happier, the money from the sale of peuter articles will go toward the purchase of new equipment for the work shop, and so on. The general public is urged to attend and a worthwhile visit is guaranteed.

R. Leroy Huszagh of 609 Sheridan road, was elected one of the directors of the board of the Sheridan Trust and Savings bank, Monday, November 22, at the first meeting of the stockholders since the control of the institution was taken over by the new interests. Emil G. Seip was elected chairman of the board and Gerhard Foreman chairman of the executive committee.
