Purple Grid Heroes to Be Honor Guests at Harvest Home Feast

Northwestern university's football team, which placed the school at the top of the conference this fall, will be royally banqueted next Wednesday night at the annual Harvest Home banquet to be held at the Sherman hotel.

The banquet, which is staged each year for the gridmen and alumni, is one of the biggest affairs for Northwestern men to be given. An excellent program of comedy and satire always serves to keep the guests in good humor during the evening.

Players who won their "N" on the football team will be presented with their awards at this time. All the coaches and other members of the athletic department will be recognized and introduced to the guests.

The program will start at 6 with a concert by the University band under the direction of "Rusty" Bainum. The banquet will be served at 6:30. At 7:45 a program of athletic stunts will be given under the direction of "Tug" Wilson, athletic director.

Mass singing will be led by John Beatty. "The Follies of 1927" promise to be one of the biggest hits of the evening. Movies of Northwestern's football games this fall will be shown.

The banquet will close with an address by President Walter Dill Scott. Over 1,500 are expected to attend.

Among the Winnetka young people attending the University of Wisconsin, who came to Chicago for the Wisconsin-Chicago football game were Miss Mabel Forberg of 960 Linden avenue and Miss Emily Hadley of 913 Oak street.

POOR TOTS BENEFIT

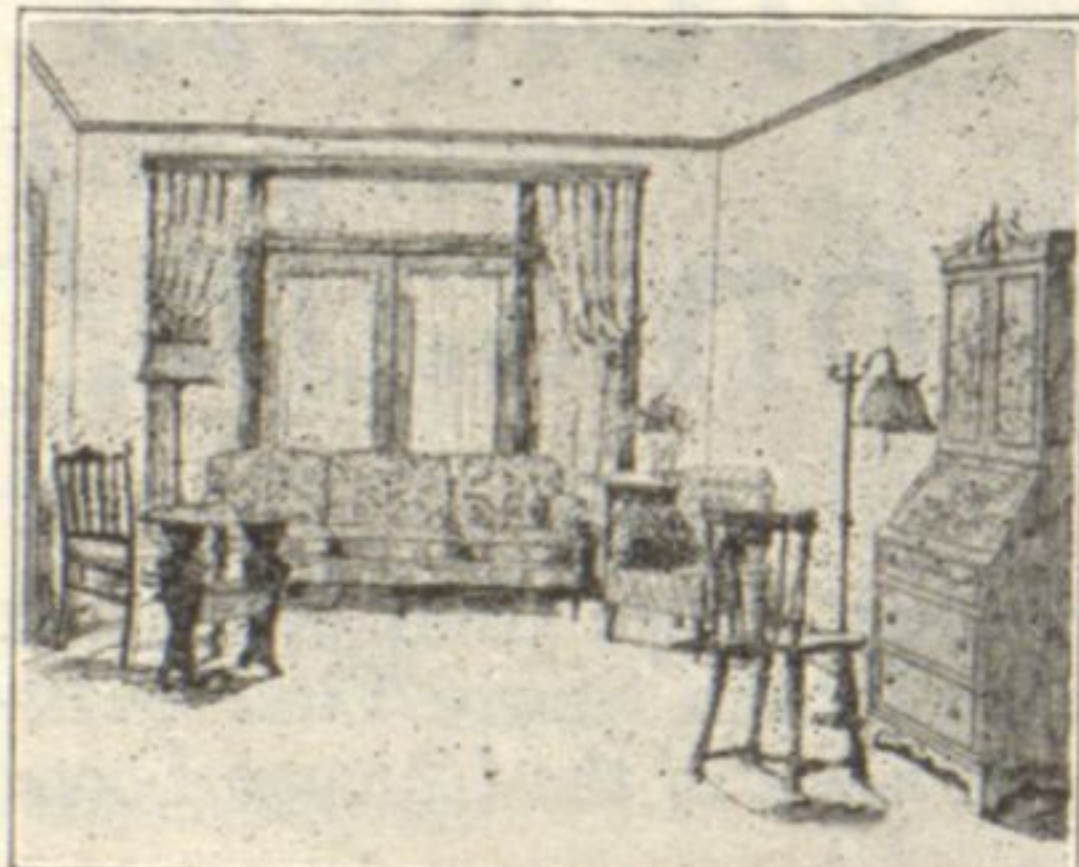

Doll-Making Competition Among Northwestern Girls to Bring Xmas Cheer to Chicago Girls

Competition in bringing the most Christmas cheer to some little girl, looking for the promised visit of Santy over on the West Side in the poorer districts of Chicago, has started on Northwestern university's Evanston campus, according to campus Y. W. C. A. officials who are sponsoring the plan. About 300 dolls will be dressed by N. U. girls during the next three or four weeks and thousands of red Christmas stockings made. The material for the stockings, and the undressed dolls, have been received and competition not only among individual girls will be keen but there is to be friendly rivalry among the twenty-six sororities as to which will set the styles this year in attractive doll-dressing. A doll show is to be put on about a week before Christmas, probably in Harris hall, when the results of the dressmaking will be judged by competent critics.

"The girls have decided to concentrate most of their energies in giving the little girls and boys living in the neighborhood of the Northwestern university settlement in Chicago a happy Christmas this year," explained Miss Doris Curran, secretary of the campus Y. W. C. A. "In other years they have tried both to pack Thanksgiving baskets and to do Christmas doll-dressing, but this year it seems most wise to center our endeavors upon Christmas preparations, as the time is not long and the girls are extremely busy in class-work. After the stockings are made and the doll show is held, the girls will take the results of their labors to the Settlement House where the stockings will be filled with candy, fruit and nuts and the dolls apportioned off by Miss Harriet Vittum and her staff to the poor families of that section."

Miss Curran made it plain that not only sorority girls but the unorganized women students are participating in the doll-dressing contests and in the making of Yule stockings. She said that sorority lines are never drawn when it's a test of the girls' willingness to perform good deeds and that in this year's Christmas work all of the girls are "pitching in" with vim and enthusiasm.

John McFadzean, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. McFadzean, of 932 Cherry street, who has been attending the University of Illinois, as a member of the freshman class, has distinguished himself by being chosen a member of the Freshman Basketball squad. He expects to spend Thanksgiving with his parents in Winnetka.
