EDGAR GUEST COMING IN BENEFIT LECTURE

Poet to Contribute Services in Recital That Will Swell Funds of Camp Wilmette

Camp Wilmette, a 24-acre tract of woodland purchased by men of the Wilmette Methodist church last spring as a camping place for boys and girls of the north shore community, will be the direct beneficiary of an address to be given by Edgar A. Guest, world famous poet, at New Trier Auditorium, Friday evening, December 3. Mr. Guest is contributing his services toward completion of payment for the camp, so that all proceeds from his lecture may be utilized to obtain the grounds title clear.

The camp, located near Watervliet, Mich., on the banks of the Paw Paw river, is well equipped and especially adapted to use by such groups as Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and similar children's organizations. Last summer its facilities were utilized by some 100 boys and girls, under trained camp leaders.

Tickets at Drug Stores

Tickets for the Guest lecture may be obtained at any drug store in the township, the sponsors of the program announce. It is the hope of those interested in this project that the sale of tickets will net the $3,000 necessary to carry through the complete camp project. Large sums were contributed by a small group of men in the Methodist parish to make the camp purchase possible.

Mr. Guest, by virtue of the appearance of his poems in the daily press throughout the country, is familiar to almost every man, woman and child in America. He is known also as an entertaining and pleasing speaker. In fact, he is in such demand for platform work that it is with difficulty that he can limit his speaking engagements. This season he authorized his publishers, Reilly and Lee, Chicago, his exclusive booking agents, to accept contracts for only eighteen platform appearances. The north shore is therefore highly favored in securing his services, and especially so in view of the fact that his recital on December 3 is to be a contribution to the cause of young people whom he counts as his treasured friends.

Master of Repartee

"As a humorist and master of repartee the Detroit poet is a master," reads a comment. "Kindly in his philosophy of life, he writes and speaks with that same spirit. He thinks in terms of home things and his poems and lectures are of these same home things. 'It takes a heap o' living in a house to make it home' is an expression which has circled the globe since he incorporated it in one of the most charming poems in our language. Earnest, deep-rooted in the essential graces and virtues, companionable and 'homey,' he lives the poetry he writes."

"FOLLIES AFLOAT" ON WAY TO OUR VILLAGE

J. W. Belter, Thomas Wheatley, Frank Woods, Arch Wilcox, Edward Weinstock, G. A. Arnold, George Barbery, J. A. Cooke and Arnie Mauland.

Over 400 members of the Winnetka lodge of Masons have been supplied with tickets and they will be largely aided by members of the Eastern Star who will conduct a ticket-selling campaign. The ticket committee has called attention to the fact that reserved seat assignments will be made and tickets will be for sale on and after December 1 at Adams' drug store. Also that the price of reserved seat tickets is but one dollar. According to Frank Nelson, who is in general charge of arrangements for "Follies Afloat," the advance ticket sale has been excellent and indicates capacity houses on both December 8 and 9.
