ANNOUNCE SERMON

"Kingdom Christians" is the sermon topic announced by the Rev. James Austin Richards for the morning sermon Sunday at the Winnetka Congregational church, at 11 o'clock. In the evening at 8 o'clock, the Rev. Thomas A. Goodwin will preach on, "When Thy Son Asketh Thee."

Two real estate deals, involving the sale of a home at 1087 Elm street and the purchase of another at 252 Forest avenue, were recently transacted by Thomas F. McNally, who with his family, will occupy their new nine room brick colonial home at the latter address.

Lester B. Manns and family have sold their home at 1046 Fig avenue and have moved to Hinsdale, Illinois.

Singing "Find" Brought Forth in Play Rehearsal

At the first rehearsal of "Follies Afloat," the musical entertainment to be shown next Wednesday and Thursday evenings at Skokie school, a call was made for singers to step forward and try their voices for parts. One bashful young man remained glued to his seat until extra pressure finally brought him to the front. "I haven't a chance," he muttered and then burst forth in song with one of the best voices which had been exhibited. "I only wish I had your chance," was the passing comment of George Bainbridge, director and producer of the show. The young man will play the part of the ship's mate in "Follies Afloat."

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Shaw and their family were the guests of Col. J. P. Hopkins of the Sixth Corps area stationed in Chicago, at the Army-Navy game. Miss Catherine Shaw attended the Army-Navy ball at the Drake hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. George J. Smith, 794 Elm street, had as their guest for the holidays, Mrs. Smith's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Belden of Milwaukee. On Friday Mr. and Mrs. Smith entertained in their honor at a theater party, and on Saturday at a card party.

The Misses Edith and Katherine Dillon, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Dillon of 814 Prospect avenue, entertained at the weekly Friday "Cozy" given by the Alpha Phi's of Northwestern university, at their home, December 3, at 4 in the afternoon. Miss Edith is a member of the Junior class at Northwestern, and Miss Katherine is a freshman.
