

Orthophonic Victrola—Radiola

$375.00

Semi-Wall type cabinet in Spanish style, finished in mahogany, blended high lights. Batteries operating Radiola in special compartment accessible from front of cabinet. Complete set of Radiotrons furnished. A lever operated controlled valve permits instantaneous change from Orthophonic Victrola to Radio reception. Easy to operate—tunes with one hand.

You can have the rich treasure-house of all the world's music right in your home with the Orthophonic Victrola, and can turn instantly to the thing of the moment that catches your fancy—through the Radiola.

Come in today and hear it—convenient terms.

Open Evenings.

North Shore Talking Machine Co.

712 Church St.
Evanston

554 Center St.
Winnetka

Opening of Varsity Will Attract Movie Moguls to Evanston

Film celebrities and producers of national prominence are expected to come to Evanston Thursday of next week to attend the gala opening of the Varsity theater under the management of Clyde Elliott. The theater is attracting wide attention among producers and exhibitors because it embodies many new ideas in theater design which are expected to have revolutionary influence on motion picture houses over the country.

The exterior appearance of the theater is deceptive as to its size, it is pointed out by the management. The theater will seat approximately 2,500, which makes it somewhat larger than the Riviera.

As artist to perform on the Giant Geneva organ, Mr. Elliott has engaged Leo Terry, who opened the Capitol theater two years ago and who is considered among the few topmost movie organists in the state.

Joseph Kozak will be leader of the orchestra. He has assembled fourteen symphony players in his organization.

Evanston's six-day theater week has acted to the advantage of the Varsity, it is pointed out. Under union rules musicians employed here receive the same pay for six days as musicians in Chicago receive for seven. This advantage in pay has enabled Mr. Elliott, he explains, to choose for his orchestra many of the ranking artists of the Chicago orchestras.

Prospects at the beginning of this week were that the Varsity theater would be finished and ready for occupancy several days before the date set for the opening. By Tuesday the seats had been all placed, the balcony was completed and the decorators were putting on the finishing touches.

Poor Kiddies Will View Santa in Broad Daylight

Santa Claus had been withholding information from a large group of poor and crippled children who are being treated at Northwestern university medical school and this hesitation on Santa's part was making the little folks more or less apprehensive. But Old Saint Nick has relented and sent word to the youngsters that he will appear in one of the big rooms of the children's clinic this Saturday at about 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Think of that—instead of sneaking down a chimney at night and filling stockings, Santa promises to make a day visit to these sad little boys and girls in the broad light of the afternoon, at Montgomery Ward Memorial, McKinlock campus, Chicago.

These facts came from the arctic land of Santa in some mysterious way, probably by radio to Miss Zoe Harpster, director of the welfare work of the public children's clinic, and to Miss Florence Olmsted, head nurse. Both Miss Harpster and Miss Olmsted agree that the old fellow gave them an identical radio message and that there is no question now about the time as being December 18.

All other reported dates and statements have been tossed aside and the preparations are now going forward to give Santa a regal greeting. There will be a tree, oranges, apples, dolls and what-not. Various Chicago folks who are interested in direct aid to the poor, undernourished and crippled lads and lassies of the poorer districts of Chicago, will help. The party will see one of the best-looking Santas in a generation, as great care is to be taken to see that the distinguished visitor this year will fill the part in perfect style.

6 DIFFERENT FAMILY SERVICES THAT SATISFY

FRENCH LAUNDRY

806 DEMPSTER ST.

VICTOR ORTLUND, President

EVANSTON, ILL.

ALL WASHED
HOUSEHOLD LINENS IRONED
WEARING APPAREL STARCHED AND DRIED
TABLE LINEN HAND FINISHED

SERVICE NO. 5

13c per lb. to 20 lbs.; after 20 lbs. 10c per lb.

PHONE-WILMETTE-571