Formulate Rules to Govern Play at Skokie School

Students enrolled in the basketball sections at the Skokie school, under the supervision of Athletic Director Harry Clark, have compiled a list of training rules in the form of a pledge which each student signs before being admitted as a member. These rules, with the exception of section 7, were composed entirely by the students themselves and were originated in order to make it possible to derive the greatest amount of benefit from the sport. The pledge is as follows:

I wish to join the (boys) (girls) basketball squad. If admitted, I shall try cheerfully to comply with all the requirements which are as follows:

- 1.—To be prompt and regular in attendance.
- 2.—To accept and obey all training rules which are:
  - (a) to be in bed not later than 8:15 on any school night.
  - (b) to eat no sweets between meals, the only exception being malted milk, milk shake or plain ice cream.
- 3.—To accept the decisions of captains, coaches, and officials cheerfully.
- 4.—To so conduct myself in and around Skokie School that I will be eligible at all times. (Students in the office are ineligible to play and cannot play on the day in which they are excused from the office unless they have permission to do so from the teacher who issued the excuse. This permission must be in writing and must be presented to the coach in charge.)
- 5.—To uphold the Skokie standard of fair play at all times and all places.
- 6.—To co-operate to the fullest extent in making the season a successful one.

7.—Not to be a member of or play with any organized team other than the one which I am a member of and playing with at Skokie School. A violation of this rule will be a cause for suspension from all athletic activities.

(This rule is meant to (a) prevent injuries which may later be laid on the school or school officials; (b) to avoid serious over-strain and subsequent permanent injuries on account of improper timing, poor officiating, etc.; (c) to avoid confusion of playing systems, signals, methods of play, division of loyalty, etc.)

This rule does not apply to baseball, but it will be rigidly enforced in connection with all other sports.
