

Plan New Service Station for North Winnetka Section

The Hubbard Woods area, which during the past few months has witnessed a greater building activity than any other section on the north shore, perhaps, and especially in its business section, is to have another important development of one of its choicest business corners.

Work is now underway at the southeast corner of Tower road and Linden avenue, by the Roxana Petroleum corporation, on the up-to-date new service station which it hopes to have in operation within the next few weeks.

The station building will be of brick, painted white and constructed in accordance with the designing and building regulations of the village. There will be three 2,000 gallon tanks for gas, the well known Shell petroleum product handled by this company, and a full line of lubricating oils will also be carried. There will be a drainage pit for quick car service, and the station, throughout, will be as the name implies, a service station, up-to-date.

REORGANIZE CONCERN

Former Hill and Wheeler Realty Company Under New Name; Staff Is Also Reorganized

The real estate firm of Hill and Wheeler, Inc., is now known as Smith and Brown, Realtors, Inc. The company's office in Winnetka will remain at 736 Elm street, where remodeling operations, now completed, affords more than double the space which they previously had. The room lately occupied by the O'Brien Hat shop, directly west of what was formerly the real estate office has been connected with the Smith and Brown office, giving two entrances on Elm street and a spacious, well lighted office room.

E. Sawyer Smith, who has been associated with the firm for a number of years, continues in charge of the business. Christie Brown, who has for several years been building homes of the better class on the north shore, is now a member of the firm and Carl N. Forberg continues his connection with the firm at its Winnetka office.

E. E. Thatcher, of Wilmette, is in charge of the firm's office in that village and Raymond Thatcher will be in the Winnetka office.

Charles A. Wheeler and Arthur F. Hill, two of the original founders of this business are no longer associated with the firm, Mr. Wheeler having severed his connections about five years ago. Mr. Hill, for some time, has been actively engaged in other lines of business and has decided to make his permanent home in California.

The Chicago office of the firm is at 39 South La Salle street, Chicago, from which is handled chiefly northern Wisconsin and resort property in which the company deals extensively.
