Northbrook Joins Forces in Wider Roads Campaign

Almost every section of Illinois, these days, is either building new roads or wider roads, or promoting roads of this nature for the near future.

Nearby, Cook county is building a new bridge on Walters avenue in Northbrook which is about 800 feet south of the present bridge on Sherman avenue, and the Village of Northbrook is endeavoring to persuade the Chicago & Milwaukee Railroad company to make a subway crossing of the Walters avenue thoroughfare. Walters avenue runs along the south side of Elmore's new subdivision at Northbrook, and President R. Lauer, of the Northbrook Village board, hopes some day, he says, to see Walters avenue extended east to Glencoe, where it would join South avenue, and then to have it extended westerly to Milwaukee avenue.

President Lauer says he feels that this should be made a through, wide street. Northbrook, he says, has already paved part of this street, west of the tracks where it is thirty-six feet in width. It is now open from Waukegan to Phingston road and is to be made 36 feet wide east of the tracks.

President Lauer said it is the plan of his Village to make Waukegan road a 100 foot thoroughfare throughout that village and to establish a new building line there. The highway is now 66 feet wide in the village limits.

President Lauer said the building of the proposed Harlem avenue, northward, through Glenview and on into Northbrook via Lee road, is another proposed road improvement in which all that section is vitally interested.

Man Injured in Crash of Trucks at Winnetka

The accident occurred at the intersection of Oak and Locust streets, Winnetka. Balmes' injuries were dressed by Dr. G. M. Loewe, of 787 Elm street, Winnetka.
