4 Big Ten Squads to Clash in Track Meet This Saturday

Many of the outstanding track stars in the Western conference will compete in the fourth annual quadrangular track meet at Evanston this Saturday between Chicago, Northwestern, Ohio and Wisconsin. Outside of the conference meet in March the quadrangular is the most important gathering of Big Ten Track men.

Wisconsin, winner of the three previous meets, will enter another strong team this year but will encounter some formidable opposition from other contenders. All of the competing teams boast of some clever performers both in the track and field events.

Ohio and Wisconsin appear strong in the relays although Chicago will enter several fast quartets of runners. The Buckeyes are headed by Captain Johnny Bevan, quarter miler; Larry Irwin, sprinter and hurdler; Herman Hornstein and Bill Tooley, a pair of middle distance men and Dwight Brown, pole vaulter.

Members of the Badger team who are certain of competing are Chuck McGinnis, high jumper, pole vaulter and hurdler; Robert Kreuz, sprinter; John Zola, long distance; George Schutt, miler and Ray Erickson, middle distance. McGinnis is one of the most versatile performers in the conference and will be a dangerous competitor in all three of his events.

Anton Burg, captain of the Maroons, will be a favorite in the high jump. He is one of the best high jumpers in collegiate competition besides being a capable pole vaulter. Jim Cusack, Wakefield Burke, Williams, Hegovic and Apitz will run the relays for Chicago.

Coach Frank Hill has one of his best teams at Northwestern this year as demonstrated by the Purple's victory over Notre Dame in a record dual meet. "Tiny" Lewis, Al Bagge, "Kit" Karsten and Aldo Nessler comprise a quartet of weight men who are capable of picking up a lot of points. Lewis is also entered in the hurdles, an event in which he shows considerable promise.

Capt. Dar Furrey, Frank Reynolds, Phil Sparling, James Orchard, John Gorby, James Moring, Dick Johnson and George Mills, Bob Tannehill and Darrel Ware will handle the relay events for the Purple. Bill Droege-mueller, star pole vaulter, is certain to be one of the top notchers while Frank Rettig will be a formidable contender in the high jump.

AT WISCONSIN DINNER

A large group of north shore members attended the annual dinner of the Wisconsin society of Chicago Friday at the Union League club. The governor of Wisconsin was the guest of honor. A special moving picture, "Wisconsin Beauty Spots" was one of the numbers on a fine program. Federal Judge Evan A. Evans is president of the society which has five-hundred members who were born in Wisconsin or lived there ten years.

The Phi Beta sorority will have its initiation of pledges at the Georgian hotel Saturday afternoon, February 19. The event will be followed by a dinner party. The girls who will be initiated are Miss Virginia Vincent, Miss Genevieve Lamb, Miss Bonita Humphrey, Miss Dorothy Ragland, Miss Ruth Bradford, Miss Evelyn Horine, Miss Olive Gudikuntz and Miss E. Eastman.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank F. Kellogg and Miss Laura Kellogg of 615 Lincoln avenue are taking an automobile trip through the South. They have included Lakeland, Fla., in their tour.
