History Real to Them

History and kindred subjects mean more than just so much reading in books to children of the Hubbard Woods school. Here we have a group of third graders engaged in the business of constructing a model Swiss village. But the building of this hamlet did not complete the matter for these youngsters, for, after everything had been arranged, they sat down to a feast of Swiss cheese, Swiss chocolate and Swiss dessert. Then, having eaten, they all made merry to the tune of Folk songs and listened to the story of William Tell.
