The Britton I. Budd Medal for the Saving of Human Life, recently established by Mr. Budd within the public utility companies which he heads as award of honor for any employe who saves the life of anybody, anywhere and at any time, was presented recently to two employes of the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois, one employe of the Chicago Rapid Transit company and, posthumously to a late employe of the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee railroad—the North Shore line.

The presentations were the first made since this new award of honor was recently instituted. Three of the heroic incidents occurred out of the line of duty while none of those saved was in any way connected with the public utility organization concerned.

New Trier High school riflemen, entered in the National Tyro team championship, placed eighth in the meet, out-shooting several large colleges and universities and even representatives of the United States Naval Academy and Marine Corps. By making the highest score of any high school entered in the match, they also rank first among the high schools.

The team is composed of nine members, John Appleton, Everett Carpenter, Joe Crumlish, Paul Crumlish, Dixie Douglas, Dick Douglas, Ralph Johnson, Drake Older and William Peacock. It was coached by T. G. Lively, former Illinois State Rifle team captain and coach, former president of the Illinois State Rifle association, winner of the distinguished rifle and pistol medals and a member of two winning international rifle teams.

Teams of not more than ten men each from any High school, university, rifle club, and branch of service and the United States Military and Naval academies were eligible for competition. Each member of the team was to fire thirty shots in three stages, ten shots to the stage, and the high five scores in each stage to count for record; over the regulation fifty foot course in the prone position.

Have Your Trees Removed Now!

Before the grass comes up, let me remove the unsightly or dead trees. If you wait, it will mean that your green lawn will be tramped on and ruined.
