

SYMPHONY PRESENTS WHAT AUDIENCE WANTS

Therefore, Monday's Concert,
With Miss Freund as Soloist,
Is a Delight

By Rutheda L. Pretzel

Homer Horton, president of the New Trier Township Orchestral association, in a short talk to subscribers during intermission, at the Little Symphony orchestra concert last Monday evening at New Trier High school, said the association will try to follow the wishes of the majority so far as it can interpret them. He said particular attention will be paid to soloists next season, which will be the sixth, and that soloists of the highest calibre will be featured. He also mentioned that the association recognized that most of the subscribers cared little for the profound in music literature, or the very modern compositions, and that the orchestra will therefor give more attention to presenting the more pleasing and familiar numbers.

Monday evening's concert was of the "pleasing and familiar" type, yet it was good literature too. There was nothing uncertain about the applause after the brisk cleanness of Saint-Saens' "Marche Militaire Francaise" from the "Algerienne" suite; nor was there anything unconvinced in the applause at the end of Beethoven's C Minor Symphony, which was played in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of his death. The first movement was especially elastic and closely woven, and the second was smooth, mellow, and had all the niceties of

Beauty Lies in Healthy EYES

It's not so much the size or color of the EYES that makes them beautiful. Rather, it's the glow which radiates from them. Unless kept always clean and healthy, EYES lack this alluring lustre.

Millions of women throughout the world promote EYE health and beauty with Murine. It cleanses EYES of irritating particles and keeps them clear and bright. Contains no belladonna.

shading one could desire. The last two movements were inclined to be a little loose, but they had spirit, and ended in several chords that were clipped out with neat precision.

Miss Freund Scores

Miss Helen Freund, soprano of the Chicago Civic Opera company, appeared with the orchestra in Meyerbeer's famous "Shadow Song" from "Dinorah." She followed this with an encore, "Michaela's Aria" from "Carmen." Miss Freund sings with an ease and apparent lack of effort that is delightful. She sings with warmth, as if the song is of her own making, and her voice has a lovely texture and freshness about it. Beside a thoroughly charming voice, Miss Freund's personality, and her beautiful stage appearance (in spite of the unflattering, ghastly overhead lights) decidedly "got across."

The overture to "Mignon," by Thomas, played after the intermission, and Hosmer's "A Southern Rhapsody," were both treated in a sympathetic and expert way, that showed why they are so highly favored.

Miss Freund again appeared, singing the aria, "Caro Nome," from Verdi's "Rigoletto," which she gave in a tender manner. Her encore, the waltz from "Romeo and Juliet," showed more smoothness and exactness, and she lent it a gay sense of abandon. In response to continued applause, Miss Freund sang a wistful, lovely thing, "When I was Seventeen."

It would appear, from the enthusiasm of the audience, and the comments heard, that the orchestra is giving them what they want. It not only deserves support, but has it.

Mrs. Francis Butler of Private road returned last week from Southern Park, N. C., where she has been for the past three weeks.
