Coolidge Proclaims American Forest Week

The week of April 24-30 has been officially designated for nation-wide observance as "American Forest Week" by President Coolidge, in a proclamation made public by the United States Department of Agriculture.

This year will mark the seventh annual observance of the week, President Harding in 1921 having issued the first proclamation which brought the Federal Government behind the movement. Of the numerous weeks observed in the country, this is the only one to which the Government of the United States has given recognition and support.

The President proclaimed the 1927 American Forest Week "in the belief that no other of our internal problems is of greater moment than the rehabilitation of our forests, now so hopefully begun but needing the strong support of our collective will and intelligence." He emphasized the importance of farm forestry as a means for lessening agricultural surpluses and meeting the problem of agricultural overproduction, and the resulting depression in the farming industry.

Norman and Willard, sons of Charles V. Sommer, 425 Provident avenue, who are attending St. John's Military Academy will be home on Saturday, March 19 to stay for a period of ten days—the usual vacation period for St. Johns.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Pavey, 845 Lincoln avenue, entertained twenty guests at dinner and bridge St. Patrick's day.
