They visited Havana en route to Panama on their vacation journey, and sailed from there Thursday for the Canal zone. Mr. Dawes, Mrs. Dawes, their daughter and others of their party were greeted at the Havana pier on their arrival from Florida by a large and vigorously-cheering crowd. Ambassador Enoch H. Crowder, member of the American embassy, Secretary of State Rafael Martinez Ortiz and Secretary of War and Marine Iturralde were members of the reception committee greeting the party at Havana.

Mrs. Harrison A. Storms, 251 Wood court, entertained her bridge club Tuesday afternoon.

JOFFRE'S OWN STORY How the Battle of the Marne Was Fought

The enterprise of the Hearst newspapers is again disclosed by the publication of a series of articles by Marshal Foch and Marshal Joffre, supreme commanders of the French armies, in which these famous fighters tell for the first time many of the important secrets of the World War. The second of this series of articles will be by Marshal Joffre. It will appear in next Sunday's Herald and Examiner, and will tell how the battle of the Marne was fought, describing the strategic moves that forced the Germans to retreat when they were within twenty miles of Paris. The articles by Foch and Joffre are amplified by special war maps.
