

Parents Go to School in Place of Their Children at New Trier

Below at the right we have Miss Emelyn Waltz explaining the progress of instruction in American history. The old world has changed not a little bit since most of these folks attended High school and their strict attention to the school ma'am is sufficient evidence of their intense interest.
