

Church Club to Meet at La Salle Hotel on Monday

The three hundred and fortieth meeting of the Chicago Congregational club, of which John R. Montgomery, of Winnetka, is president, will be held at the Hotel LaSalle, Monday evening, April 18, at which the principal address will be by Rev. Ernest Graham Guthrie, on "The Church in Two Great Cities of the World."

A reception of the guests will be at 5:30 p. m., followed by a dinner at 6:15.

This meeting is designated as "special guest night," and the president and directors of the club extend an invitation to all Congregationalists to meet with the club at this time. Leaders of the missionary and extension work conducted in Chicago by other denominations, have also been invited. On account of the large number that are expected, it is requested that reservations be sent in very promptly.

In the announcement of the coming meeting, reference is made to Rev. Guthrie, the speaker of the evening, as follows:

"We welcome to Chicago and to the Congregational club the Rev. Ernest Graham Guthrie, who has been brought to this city to lead the important and promising work of our Chicago Congregational Missionary and Extension society in the new and enlarged program of service made possible by the Lawson bequest.

"After a careful and national wide search he has been chosen for this great task in Chicago, as the man best qualified by his proved devotion to the city church, his vigor of personality, his human sympathy and christian vision, to deal with the problems of the great city."
