Origin and Age of Arden Shore Camp Divulged in Resume

BY JEAN TEN BROECK

Easter Sunday, in part significant for its joyous sacred music, its festive church services, its new spring fashions in colorful parade, in concluding the somber days of Lent brings to a society editor's desk a dirth of new news of widespread interest. The large affairs on the north shore during the next week or two are benefits, exhibits, and weddings already chronicled. The interest of north shore people in Arden Shore never ceases, and from week to week new appeals and announcements find their way to the public. Now we have at hand a short notice of the origin of Arden Shore camp, no doubt unknown to many members of the association, as well as to the laity. How many people realize that Arden Shore summer camp for mothers and children originated in Glencoe?

It was founded in 1901 by Mrs. Leila Martin as the summer camp for the less fortunate people from Gads Hill settlement in Chicago. The camp occupied the land loaned it on the property known as the Lichstein property just north of the Lake Shore Country club. Women and girls from Glencoe and other suburbs gave their services to take care of the thirty members of the camp. In 1908 the camp moved up to its own property north of Lake Bluff.

Now Arden Shore accommodates five-hundred persons at a time and vacations are given to twenty-three hundred mothers and children during the hot summer months.

It has been estimated by a reliable authority that Arden Shore does the largest percentage of free charity work of any fresh air camp near Chicago. Those who enjoy its privileges are recommended by different social agencies, by the board of education, and the Chicago hospitals.

The mothers, tired and worn with many cares, grow young again with their games and merry parties, but they also learn how to take intelligent care of their babies, to keep their homes clean, and give their children well cooked and nourishing food.

Reading, Music, Cards, Features of Camp Benefit

The day of the card party and entertainment for Indian Hill camp is Tuesday, April 26. As many know, Indian Hill is the summer camp for Winnetka boys and girls, sponsored by Community House, and directed by Dr. J. W. F. Davies.

Eighteen days for each camp contingent is the short term, and the camps are not run for profit. Because of this benefit planned by the friends of Indian Hill, camp scholarships may be offered to outstanding boys and girls of the village, thus making an opportunity for them to enjoy camp life which otherwise might not have been possible.

The aim of these camps is to build character, not to gain financially. The fees are put low, in order that all boys and girls may have the fun and benefit of camping in the out of doors.

The encampment is ideally located on Lake Hamlin, near Ludington, Mich. The boys' outing is from June 21 to July 8, the girls', from July 12 to July 29.

At the benefit Tuesday, on April 26, cards will be played at the Woman's club and Mrs. Harry L. Street will open her home at 592 Sheridan road for the reading and music. Mrs. Laird Bell will read, and Mrs. William McAdams and Mrs. Robert Kingery will play a two piano selection.
