

Illinois Gains in Fight Against the White Plague

Illinois won a distinct advantage in the trial of the people vs tuberculosis when it was announced here today by the State supreme judge of vital statistics that the health authorities would be upheld in their action of slicing 2,000 victims from the 1926 schedule of the great white plague. The mortality per 100,000 population fell from 79.3 in 1925 to 76.3 in 1926, giving the lowest rate ever recorded. This decline represents 216 fewer deaths and 2160 fewer cases of infection than would have occurred under the 1925 rate and is the ninth successive annual decrease in mortality from tuberculosis in Illinois.

The Kenilworth Home and Garden club will meet at the home of Mrs. Charles Howe, 240 Kenilworth avenue, Kenilworth on Monday afternoon. Mrs. John Lind will have the program for the afternoon and will display the Garden model she made for exhibition at the New York Flower show.

Urges Continuance of Boy Patrol in Summer

The use of school boy patrols in maintaining order at recess periods, and at playgrounds during the summer vacation, has been suggested to school authorities by Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club.

"Unquestionably, the boys of the patrol are the leaders of the safety movement in the schools," says Mr. Hayes. "These boys do as much by the good example they set as by their active work in directing traffic. The summer vacation brings a let-down in caution, but the presence of the school boys' patrol in the playgrounds during the summer vacation will tend to keep the children mindful of the lessons of safety that they have learned during the school year.

"Many of the schools now make use of the patrol during recess periods, and the authorities find that this practice tends to make the children more careful. Let us extend the patrol system through the dangerous vacation period."

Pierce Arrow Price Cut Causes Auto Sensation

Few automobile announcements have caused such widespread interest as Pierce-Arrow's recent reduction of prices from $355 to $500 on four of the popular body styles in the Series 80 line.

The four body models, which include the 5-passenger brougham, the run-about, the 4-door standard sedan and the 4-passenger coupe have held the spotlight of interest in automobile row ever since the price reduction, according to A. O. Meyer of Tom Hay and Son, local distributor.

In a telegram received here from the Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Co. at Buffalo, it was revealed that a million dollars in orders were placed on the day following the price announcement. Many distributors in both the larger and smaller cities doubled their April and May allotments in order to supply the demand for cars.

The unusual high quality of workmanship in the Series 80 models is attracting great attention, especially in view of the lowered prices. All bodies are made by hand in the Pierce-Arrow body factory. The exterior is finished practically any color or color combination desired. The interiors of the enclosed cars are especially luxurious, being upholstered in soft woolens, with silken roller shades, silken toggle grips and velvet carpeting.

The chassis is powered with the famous Pierce-Arrow Series 80 six-cylinder engine, developing 70 horsepower. It contains many interesting mechanical devices which are not found on the ordinary car.

It costs one and one-half times as much money to build Illinois electric railways as the Panama Canal.

Chicago has 139 automobiles per mile of pavement.
