"On no one occasion will the Lord desert us. Happen what may, He will be at our side. The winds of disquietude are laid to sleep in the caverns of divine faithfulness. Friends drop from us, their help is but an April shower; but God is faithful, Jesus is the same forever, and the Holy Spirit abideth in us."

Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Sax have sold their house at 838 Lincoln avenue and moved Wednesday to 460 Winnetka avenue.

New Trier Student Wins Scholastic Award at Williams

Acting Dean Agard, of Williams college, at the annual meeting of the Williams college Alumni association of Chicago last week, paid a tribute to the north shore's educational institutions when he said that, based on the scholarship records of students who had entered Williams from the Chicago district, the two outstanding high schools were New Trier and Evanston.

E. Herbert Botsford, general secretary of the alumni, further congratulated the association on its award of the Chicago scholarship to one who has been a credit to the judgement of the scholarship committee and a constructive influence among the undergraduates during his four years in college—Cabray Wortley, a graduate of New Trier.

Mr. Wortley is the son of Mrs. Eloise Wortley, 561 Lincoln avenue, Winnetka. He was an honor student at New Trier and was active in both athletics and dramatic productions, having taken the lead in "Daddy Long-legs" and "Helena's Husband" produced by the High school dramatic associations. He was an Eagle scout and also a scout leader in one of the Winnetka troops and was one of the most popular of Winnetka boys.

Since entering Williams college, he has continued both in his popularity and active interest in school affairs. In his first year he made the debate team and was elected captain in his sophomore year. He was captain of the class soccer team and this year captain of the varsity. He is also a member of the board of the "William's Record," the school publication; business editor of the "Gul" and a contributor to the Williams "Graphic." For three years he has been an instructor in Freshman public speaking in the college. He is also president of the Williams chapter of the Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.

The north shore is actively represented in the interests centering around Williams college, with William P. Sidley, a trustee, Wallace D. Rumsey, the president of the Chicago Alumni association, Marcus D. Richards and Charles D. Matz, the vice-presidents, all of Winnetka, together with Auguste C. Babize of Glencoe and Willard N. Boyden of Evanston on the executive committee.

William Ayer McKinney to Address Men's Meeting

Practical application of Christian principles in industry will form the subject matter to be discussed on May 1 and 8 by the men's group which meets at 9:30 Sunday mornings in the American Legion room of the Community House.

This topic, which is claiming steadily increasing attention from industrial heads and other business men, will be talked on at both meetings by William Ayer McKinney. "The Speedomat Industrial Plan" will be the title of his addresses.

A year ago Mr. McKinney gave an outline of this plan before the same group, and he will portray its progress to date at the group sessions tomorrow and next Sunday.

The plan, as originally proposed, called for a gradual development over a series of years. It is non-paternalistic in character. All men are invited to attend both meetings.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cary-Curr, 1051 Spruce street, have had as their guest this week, Mrs. Adolph Hultquist of Elmhurst, who has just returned from a trip to Cuba. Mrs. Cary-Curr entertained a few friends at luncheon and bridge Thursday in honor of her guest.
