GIVES LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Editor's note—The following is an excerpt from a lecture on Christian Science delivered Friday evening, April 29, at the Winnetka Masonic temple before the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Winnetka, by John W. Doorly, member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

No body of people on earth holds a higher estimate of Christ Jesus than Christian Scientists. We know that his way is the only way. It is true that we do not believe that the human Jesus is God. We know that, as he himself declared, he is the Son of God. The Christian Scientist's love for Christ Jesus is beyond any words, for is it not the life and work of Jesus which led to the discovery of this Science and which has enabled him to come out of bondage to sin and disease and to see those he loves dearly freed from these ills? It might truly be said of the honest Christian Scientist that his chief aim and endeavor in life is to know more of Jesus and of his teaching, which is revealing God's presence and power. Thus he learns that "Christianity is the basis of true healing" (Science and Health, p. 192).

No one who understands and appreciates Jesus' mission and his fulfillment of that mission can ever be satisfied to be a merely nominal follower of Jesus. Christian Scientists recognize clearly that the promise of Jesus, "He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also," is not merely a promise but is also an unmistakable demand on his followers. They realize that slowly but surely the world is beginning to see and to appreciate that the spiritual understanding of God and of His Christ is the only way of deliverance from evil of any kind. As this demonstration of Christ is made manifest there will be a truer appreciation of Christ Jesus and of his overwhelming sacrifice for the salvation of men. Until the works are performed in some degree, by healing the sick, reforming the sinner, and raising the dead, Christianity has not fully grasped the deep significance of Jesus' mission. His life and work were a complete proof that "whatever holds human thought in line with unselfed love, receives directly the divine power" (Science and Health, p. 192).

It is sometimes misrepresented that we Christian Scientists make too much of the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, Mary Baker Eddy. Let me say to you that it would be impossible for us to make too much of Mrs. Eddy. The salvation of every member of the human race depends on the honest recognition of the truth taught by Mrs. Eddy as God's messenger. She never demanded of her followers any human praise, her mental status was too high to be influenced by such praise. She knew, however, that if men were to be redeemed by Christian Science they would, in common justice, have to recognize through whom Christian Science had been brought to them. Those who knew Mrs. Eddy well, found that she was pure and tender, wonderfully unselfish, always thinking and laboring on behalf of mankind. Strength and poise
