

Georgian Manager

Hal Thompson, new managing director of the Georgian hotel, will be remembered by many north shore people who have spent winters at the Pine Hills hotel in Pass Christian, Miss. Mr. Thompson headed the hotel company which operated the Pine Hills.

He comes to Evanston with twenty-seven years of experience in the hotel business, having been established in Washington, D. C. and New Orleans at the St. Charles and Roosevelt hotels, before he went to Pass Christian.

The code of ethics of the American Hotel association of the United States and Canada is the work of the new managing director, who has served as first vice-president of the association.

Personal supervision of many noted and successful campaigns has given Mr. Thompson a name to be remembered in the hotel advertising world.

Civic affairs have held Mr. Thompson's attention wherever his business established him, New Orleans remembers him as a director in the Association of Commerce, a member of nearly all the country clubs and civic clubs as well as an active worker on the Safe River committee which has worked so diligently in the flood control of the Mississippi valley.
