

Cartoonists' Views of Lindbergh's Heroic Flight

THE BOY WHO SET THE WORLD AFIRE

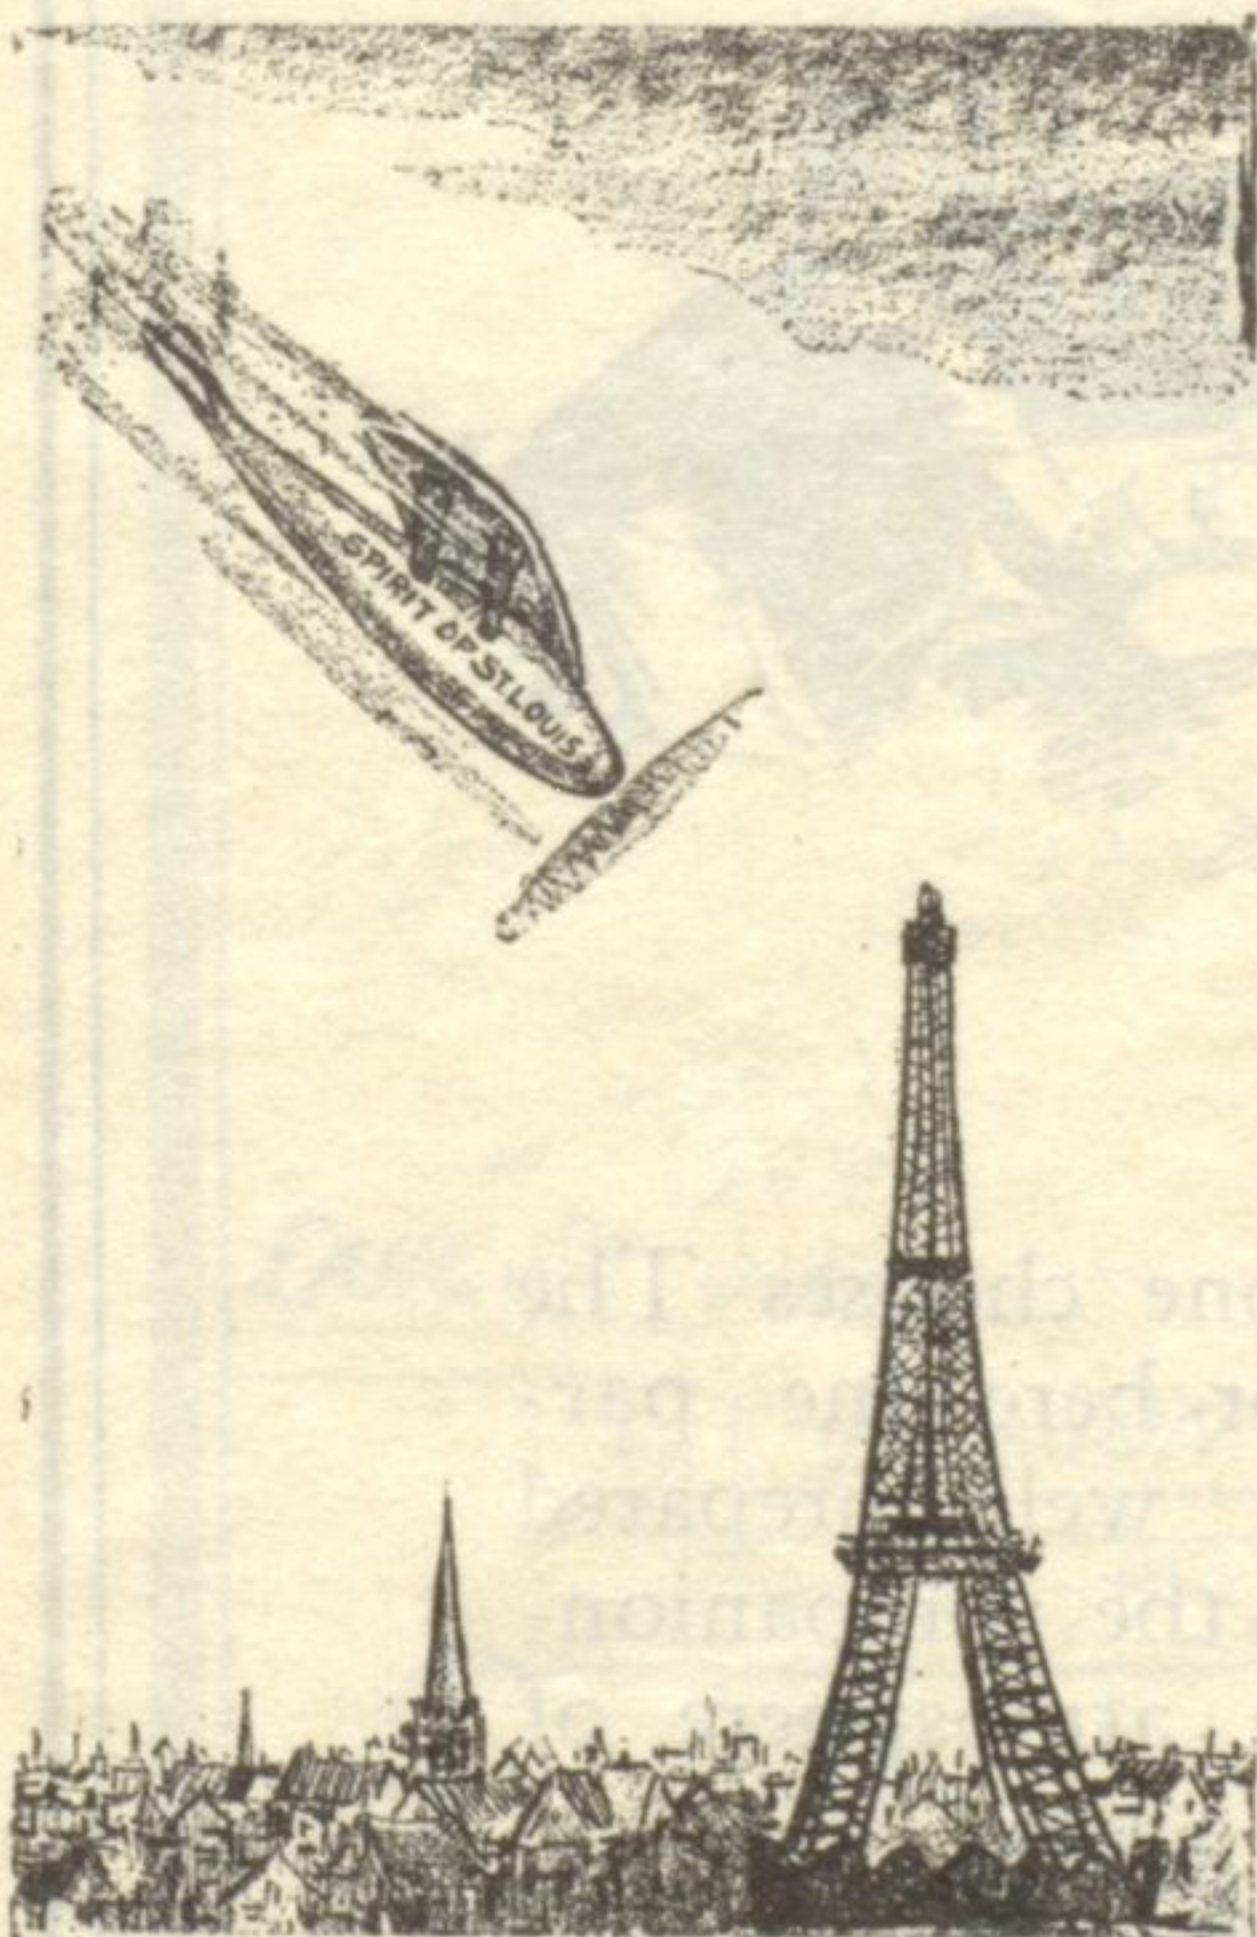

(New York World)

THE CARVING OF A GREAT NAME

(Columbus Dispatch)

LAFAYETTE, I'M HERE

(St. Louis Star)

THE LOCHINVAR IS OURS

(Detroit News)

WING SPREAD

(Louisville Courier Journal)

The entire civilized world was amazed last Saturday afternoon when the word was broadcast that Charles A. Lindbergh, intrepid air mail flyer, had spanned the broad Atlantic in his epochal New York-Paris non-stop flight. WILMETTE LIFE is pleased to present herewith conceptions of various famous cartoonists of this history-making achievement of the lone flying ace.

Cartoons reproduced on this page were selected only after a careful perusal of a large number of the foremost American Dailies, exclusive of the Chicago papers. They depict strikingly the reaction of the various individuals to the American boy flyer's rich and lasting contribution to international good-will and accord.